With Deepest Concern

MEXICO CITY, Jan. 9.—American Ambassador Sheffield was reported by usually reliable sources today to have delivered a note last night to Foreign Secretary Aaron Sans bearing on recently enacted laws, affecting foreign holdings here.

(By United Press)

WASHINGTON, D. C., Jan. 9.—The United States has sent a note to the Mexican government renewing its protests against the alleged confiscatory features of the new Mexican alien land and petroleum laws.

Both laws violate the principles of international law, Article 14 of the Mexican constitution, Mexican supreme court decisions and previous Mexican-American agreements by making Article 27 of the Mexican constitution retroactive, the note maintains.

U. S. Protests Fail

After unsuccessful protests by Ambassador Sheffield to the Mexican government regarding its new alien land and petroleum laws, this government delivered its note, aimed especially at the petroleum law.

The new protest states that the law, promulgated on December 31, violates the principles of international law by disregarding and confiscating previously legally acquired American property rights.

Through its retroactive features, the law, besides violating Article 14 of the Mexican constitution, violates five decisions of the Mexican supreme court and guarantees of the Payne-Warren agreement, upon which this government extended diplomatic recognition to Mexico in 1923, according to the American contention.

View Situation with Concern

President Coolidge and Secretary of State Kellogg are known to view the promulgation of the petroleum law with grave concern. The Mexican laws, prior to 1917, under which American properties were acquired, expressly recognized that foreign landowners also owned the subsurface oil deposits, while the new law recognizes no such ownership, they understand.

While Article 27 of the 1917 constitution provided that the Mexican nation owned the subsurface of petroleum deposits, Article 14 provided that no law should be given retroactive effect.

More than half of the $1,300,000 of American capital in Mexico is said to be invested in petroleum lands and equipment.

COOPER BEATS PAR, LEADS BIG TOURNEY

LOS ANGELES COUNTRY CLUB LOS ANGELES, Jan. 9.—Harry Cooper, Dallas, Texas, pushed into the lead during the second round of the $10,000 western golf classic here this afternoon when he rounded the difficult local course in 68 strokes, four under par.

The Texan played phenomenal golf, and by his brilliant performance became a leading favorite to win a share of the generous purse to be awarded the winners after final play tomorrow. With his 70 of yesterday, Cooper now has a total of 138 for the first 36 holes of play.

Dallas Jeffers, Riverside, turned in a card of 73, making a total score of 144 for the first two days of play. Mac Smith, New York, and Bill Taylor, Victoria, B. C., were tied with scores of 145. Smith shot a 73 today, and Taylor returned with a card of 72.

Denies Murder As He Goes to Death

HOUSTON, Tex., Jan. 9.—Agapito Rueda went to his death in the electric chair at the Huntsville state prison at 12:36 a. m. today.

Rueda died for the slaying of Willie Meers, bank messenger, in the attempted robbery of a Galveston, Harrisburg and San Antonio railroad train.

He maintained his innocence until the end, using the only two English words that he knew—"not guilty."

John Redding, San Quentin convict, declared to be Robert Scott, wanted in Chicago in connection with the slaying of Joseph Maurer, drug clerk. Scott's brother had been sentenced to die for the crime, but later was committed to an asylum for insane.

SCOTT IS HELD ON PAROLE FOR DEATH CHARGE

(By United Press)

FOLSOM PRISON, Jan. 9.—John Redding, San Quentin convict, thought to be Robert Scott, wanted in Chicago for murder, was being held in San Quentin prison today, in accordance with an order of the state prison board revoking his parole.

The action, taken by the board at its meeting here last night, paves the way for Scott's extradition by Illinois authorities in connection with the slaying of Joseph Maurer, drug clerk. Scott's brother, Russell Scott, was sentenced to die for the crime, but was later adjudged an asylum.

Modification of the dry law, Mrs. Kahn believes, would cause a speedy return to the pre-prohibition days, when a "drink wasn't a treat," and without the saloon.

"There would be no hip pocket flasks or drinking at parties," she said.

Women Seldom Drank

"In the days before prohibition, when champagne was served at parties, the ladies seldom drank it. They would usually give their glasses, and you only got one glass in those days, to their male escorts. A boy who became drunk at a party was never invited again. If we amend the law, we will go back to those days."

Drinking by young people increases every day, Mrs. Kahn said. Children of rich parents are able to fare a little better than poor children, "because they can buy better grades."

"But nobody knows what's in the stuff that is sold today. The only way to improve the youth, the backbone of the nation, is to permit beer and wine to be sold."

Numerous Visitors Call on Mercier

BRUSSELS, Jan. 9.—Cardinal Mercier passed a good night and was said today to be still in no immediate danger of death. He is receiving numerous visitors.

Earlier advices declared that physicians held there is no prospect of full recovery of the cardinal, though it was suggested he might live two or three months.

Save Ambassador From Tokio Mob

TOKIO, Jan. 9.—Japanese police with difficulty rescued Brazilian Ambassador Silva from an angry crowd, which resented his attempt to cross with his wife a street cleared for the passage of the prince regent.

Bandit Slain In Running Battle

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Jan. 9.—One bandit was killed and another wounded in a running gun battle with police here today, after the bandits had held up a messenger and seized $2500.

COAST GUARD CUTTER IS WRECKED AFTER RESCUE

(By United Press)

CAPE MAY, N. J., Jan. 9.—Her bow crushed on an island of mercy, the dry navy cutter CG-105 lies today somewhere in the storm-tossed Atlantic, an abandoned wreck.

The CG-105 put out to aid the auxiliary schooner yacht Baboon, of Los Angeles, yesterday morning. The CG-105 took the Baboon crew aboard. Then the rum chaser put in to Lewes, Del. Maneuvering into the dock, however, the 105 crashed with her sister chaser, CG-201, tearing a hole in her bow and forward compartments. But it looked to Boatwains

Congresswoman Says Prohibition Ruining Young Men and Women Today

FAVORS LEGAL BEER

Californian Also Endorses Return to Light Wines As Means of Saving Nation

(By United Press)

WASHINGTON, D. C., Jan. 9.—America's oncoming generation will be a "race of congressified drunkards" unless congress liberalizes the Volstead prohibition enforcement law, Mrs. Florence Kahn, California, Republican congresswoman, declared today in an exclusive interview with the United Press.

Only the legalizing of beer and light wines will remedy conditions and pull America's youth from its floundering in poisonous alcohol, Mrs. Kahn said.

Flask Menace to Youth

"The real menace of the youth today," Mrs. Kahn declared, "is the hip pocket flask. Prohibition has caused it and is not the cure for it. By permitting the sale of beer and wines, we will soon find the condition of the youth on a much higher plane."

"Take away the inhibition," she continued, "and you will find that the youths will stop drinking."

More than 90 per cent of the young folk carry flasks and drink because they think it is "smart," Mrs. Kahn believes. They all do it in a braggadocio way. If the condition continues, nobody can say where the oncoming generation will wind up, she said.

Modification of the dry law, Mrs. Kahn believes, would cause a speedy return to the pre-prohibition days, when a "drink wasn't a treat," and without the saloon.

"There would be no hip pocket flasks or drinking at parties," she said.

Women Seldom Drank

Volcano Calamity Danger Is Remote

ROME, Jan. 9.—Any danger of a calamity from the latest eruption of Mount Vesuvius was reported here today to be still in no immediate danger of death. He is receiving numerous visitors.

Earlier advices declared that physicians held there is no prospect of full recovery of the cardinal, though it was suggested he might live two or three months.

Midnight Rites For MacCormack

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 9.—Impressive funeral rites were observed here at midnight in final honor to Dr. William MacCormack, dean of St. Paul's cathedral, who died Monday. The ceremonies were put on by Scottish Rite Masons.

Dean MacCormack was grand chaplain of the Masons of California for two terms, and was widely known in lodge and religious circles.

Public burial services were held this afternoon at the cathedral, the body meanwhile resting in state, surrounded by a guard of honor of Knights Templar.

Thaw Is Willing To Help Evelyn

NEW YORK, Jan. 9.—Harry K. Thaw is willing to help his former wife, Evelyn Nesbit, in a Chicago hospital, now fighting the ravages of self-administered poison, but denied reports today that he had any intention of remarrying her.

After attending a musical show here last night, Thaw visited a night club, where he was warmly greeted by his hostess and other erynnemakers.

He said he came to New York to consult a physician about the condition of his mother, who is ill in Pittsburgh, Pa.

Draw Long Terms
For $17 Robbery

REDDING, Calif., Jan. 9.—Five years to life in prison is the penalty three men must pay for stealing $17 from a service station north of Redding on Christmas night. The men, Donald Hale, Harley Starcher and Frank Hale, were found guilty of holding up the service station and were given the maximum punishment following their conviction.

The collision mat used to stop the gap in the bow tore away and the little chaser was in a fair way to sink. She sent out a call for help. The CG-105 hurried out from Cold Spring Inlet and into a new fight with the seas.

Finally the CG-105 came alongside and got Cash and his men off—leaving the game CG-201, tearing a hole in her bow and forward compartments. But it looked to Boatwains

Department of Justice Decides to Investigate Activities of Aluminum Firm

STILL QUIZ SARGENT

Attorney General Remains On Stand in Inquiry by Senate Judiciary Body

(By United Press)

WASHINGTON, D. C., Jan. 9.—The department of justice has begun a special investigation to determine if the Aluminum Goods Manufacturing company, one-third of which is controlled by the Aluminum Company of America, is violating the anti-trust laws.

This was disclosed in a report read by Assistant Attorney General Donovan in the Walsh inquiry today. Donovan stated that Examiner Dunn, of the department, had reported that evidence "is clearly indicative of the actions of the company, which have been so generally criticized by its competitors, such as price policy, exclusive discount, full line forcing, exclusive dealing, resale price maintenance and causing disconnection of competing lines."

Mellon Named at Quiz

The name of the secretary of the treasury, Andrew Mellon, was given over to the Walsh investigation of government delay in prosecuting the Aluminum Company of America for the first anti-trust laws.

Senator Thomas J. Walsh, conducting the senate judiciary committee hearing, closely questioned Attorney General Sargent on how and when he heard of Mellon's connection with the so-called aluminum trust.

Sargent yesterday said he had not heard of the aluminum case until asked about it by a newspaperman six months after he took office.

After volunteering his new statement, he submitted to a second day of questioning by Senator Walsh, who uncovered the Teapot Dome scandal.

Objects to Questioning Methods

Sargent challenged Walsh's method of questioning, demanding to know what he was trying to do.

"I am trying to find out how fairly you went into this matter," Walsh said.

"I don't know about that," Sargent shouted back.

"Well, I may do it very inartistically, but I am doing it," Walsh answered.

Walsh examined Sargent closely regarding any effort that the department of justice had made to obtain evidence from the federal trade commission upon which it based its anti-trust report against the Aluminum Company of America.

"I expert our investigators to go to the commission and seek their aid," Sargent said. "I think, however, that it is more important that we attempt to find out the practices of this company than to engage in controversy with any co-ordinate branch of the government."

What is Present Purpose?

"Is it your purpose now to make the federal trade commission give up the evidence against the Aluminum company?" Senator Dorah, Idaho, Republican, asked.

"I haven't found any purpose," Sargent answered. "I don't know what the law is on whether we can force the commission to give us the information against its will, but I will test it in the courts if necessary."

He said he came to New York to consult a physician about the condition of his mother, who is ill in Pittsburgh, Pa.

COUNTESS BARRED FROM U.S. ON FORGED PAPERS

(By United Press)

BERLIN, Jan. 9.—The Vienna correspondent of the Socialist organ Virwaert reported today that examination of Prince Windischgraetz, in the so-called counterfeiting scandal at Budapest, has disclosed that he forged documents on the basis of which Countess Karolyi was barred from the United States by the state department. The paper adds that Senator Borah has been advised accordingly.

Clarence H. Mackay, millionaire telegraph and cable magnate, who has refused to greet his daughter since her marriage, was not found among the large crowd at the pier who bid the pair farewell.

REPORTED RECEEDING</

WIDOW BRANDS DEAD HUSBAND AS DECEIVER

Branding her deceased husband as a fortune hunter, whose plans were foiled by death, Mrs. Sarah E. Pond, 88-year-old Santa Ana woman, of 621 Spurgeon street, today had instituted court proceedings to recover a $25,000 estate, which, she declares, her husband, Lewis Pond, who was 65 when he died a few weeks ago, secured from her by fraud.

In a superior court action, filed through Attorney Charles D. Swanson, Mrs. Pond asks judgment for $25,000 against the Lewis Pond estate and also asks the court to declare that the separate estate of her husband was in reality her separate property, held in trust by him as her agent.

In substance, Mrs. Pond charges: 1—That her husband, being 58 years old when she was 81, when they married, in 1919, estimated that he would outlive her many years.

2—That he entered the marriage with her with the deliberate plan of procuring her property to hold as his own separate property after her death.

3—That, because of her implicit trust and confidence in him and her own inexperience with business matters, he was able to gradually convert her property into his own name, without her suspecting it.

Pond, his wife claims, represented to her that he was reinvesting her money in better securities. In this way he induced her to sign various documents, which conveyed her interests to him. At the same time, she alleged, he made a practice of the most severe economy, even verging on penury, telling her that they were without funds, even to buy sufficient clothing.

Death, however, took a hand in the game, and Pond, instead of his older wife, was the first to be sum- moned.

Pond had no wealth of his own when they married, his widow stated. She admits that she paid for the marriage license.

At his death, J. P. Hansen was named executor of his estate, and in due time his wife found that the estate claimed all that had been her separate property, she says. Her claim against the estate was not recognized, so she took the dis- pute into court.

BLAZE DESTROYS TRUCK AND AUTO

Fire, originating from an un- known cause, completely destroyed a truck, an automobile and the shed in which they were stored, at 4 a. m. today, at Delhi. Damage amounted to approximately $1500.

Fire company No. 1 answered a delayed call and found the wooden structure ready to fall in when it arrived, according to Chief John Luxemburg.

The automobiles and shed were the property of Sebastian Awry, of Delhi.

The garage of E. C. Kuhl, 606 Garfield street, was damaged to the extent of approximately $500 by fire which originated in a pile of rags stored in the place, at 10:27 last night, according to a report at the central fire station.

Firemen from station No. 1 an- swered the alarm.

CYPRESS

CYPRESS, Jan. 9.—The sorghum mill operated by C. L. McWilliams & Son had a very good season. They made $500 gallons of old-fashioned sorghum. Mr. McWilliams left for Los Angeles yesterday with two truckloads of cane seed, the seed being saved from the cane before it was run through the mill.

The Cypress Athletic club held its regular meeting Tuesday night with a good attendance. A committee was appointed to prepare a line of initiation for new members. There will be prizes given for various stunts as a diversion from the regular line of boxing and wrestling. W. C. Miller, manager, was urged to continue his good work.

Mrs. J. H. Peterson and Mrs. D. Mackley, of San Pedro, and Mrs. Frank Noel drove to San Diego, Tuesday, where they visited at the home of Mr. Mackley's parents.

Mr. and Mrs. Norman Jensen and daughter, Violet, took dinner and spent the day at the home of Mr. and Mrs. C. Brown, of Los Angeles Sunday.

A large crew of men are at work oiling and graveling South Walker street. The road will soon be open to traffic.

John Stoddard has just comple- ed a double garage at his home on South Walker street.

Mr. and Mrs. Check Cawthon, who recently built a new home on La Homa avenue in Cypress Home Gardens, have moved in. Mr. Caw- thon was reared in this vicinity and friends are glad to see them locate here.

E. L. June, of Bell, has opened a feed store in the Jack Fugay building on Lincoln boulevard, next to the Cypress garage.

article that even the ingenious inventor never dreamed of. So, knickers and golf hose have been blown far and wide, adopted as a turnout for suburbs, the country and general knockabout. Golf hose, it may also be worn by golfers. Their warmth, trimness and convenience especially adapt them to winter wear, as well as to some snow-and-blown sports, such as skating, skiing, tobogganing, bedding and so on.

year ago, golf stockings couldn't possibly be too "loud." Thunder-lightning patterns electrified the air and reverberated over every club. This season, fashion has faced about. More quiet ments prevail. Colors are more subdued. Patterns are less intense. Men seem to have discovered that the honest-to-goodness is distinguished from the dub of a grass-cutter, does not parade itself in going around in 72 by the fearful and wonderful golf therefore, restrained effects of the sort pictured in the accompanying sketch are coming into vogue. Here you see stockings with colored legs and solid-colored turn-over tops, lending an effective cast. This is far more agreeable than the old blues and yellows sprinklings of red and all those odd and "off" colors which made judicious grieve and the malicious gloat.

long wool stockings may be plain or derby-ribbed, and the ribs be narrow or wide. Turn-overs are sometimes omitted when they swing so low as completely to hide the tops. Footless hose and themselves to many men for their avoidance of excessive wear. Above all, long hose should be full-fashioned, that is,
be certain that you pro-
your correct size.

16 ENROLL FOR COLLEGE MUSIC
COURSE CREDIT

Enrollments for the University of California extension course in music are being received at the office of secretary in the Santa Ana high school. The first class session has been set for 4 o'clock next Thursday afternoon in the music room of the high school.

Fourteen class members already have registered and the number is expected to increase to 25. William J. Kraft, instructor of music in the University of California, southern branch, will teach the course. Two units of credit will be given.

Musical teachers and others interested in music are qualified to enroll. The time of meeting of the class may be changed to evenings to accommodate those who can not attend in the afternoon.

The opening date for the extension course in French, under the instruction of Miss Lella Watson, has been postponed until Tuesday night, January 19. Classes will be held at 7 o'clock in room 238 of the administration building.

Five units of credit are offered in French. The course is open to any person who may desire to study the language, regardless of previous training or qualifications, it was announced.

Court Notes

Get Jail Sentences

James C. Allen and M. J. White, found guilty of vagrancy by Justice K. E. Morrison, were sentenced late yesterday to serve 30 days in the county jail.

Hearing Date Set

Preliminary hearing of W. P. Boardman, accused of stealing an automobile from the Hall Motor company in Santa Ana, was set for January 13, when Boardman was arraigned late yesterday in Justice K. E. Morrison's court. Boardman was unable to post $500 bail and was committed to the county jail until the date of his hearing.

Meets Lawyers' Approval

This arrangement seems to have met with general approval among the attorneys, especially among those who are likely to be candidates. None of those who have been discussed as candidates care to enter a race against either Judge Williams or Judge Marks and, moreover, they from a civic standpoint, recognize the advisability of enabling the judges to avoid political campaigns.

The suggestion of the bar association committee was that, instead of running for a short term, which is the easy way of designating the unexpired term in the third department of the superior court, Marks should run with Judge Williams for the long term. Marks thus stepping into Judge West's place. The proposal of the bar committee was that the attorneys of the association would use their best efforts to get all attorneys who want to run for superior judge this year to aim their campaign ambitions at Department No. 3.

Accused Man Shot

With Roy W. McCardia awaiting hearing on a charge of having a still in his possession, authorities today were searching for Charles Everett, who is likewise accused of having possession of the same still. Deputy sheriffs unearth the still at Sunset Beach a few days ago and subsequently arrested McCardia in Long Beach. He was arraigned late yesterday before Justice K. E. Morrison, who set his trial for January 26 at 10 a. m. McCardia was released on $500 bail.

State Valued at $1600

William L. Wilson today had a petition on file in superior court for appointment as administrator of the estate left by the late John M. Wilson, who died July 19. The estate is valued at $1600 and consists of property in Brea. John J. Wilson, of Burbank, father of the deceased, is heir to the estate. Attorney Monte C. Fiscus, of Brea, represents the petitioner.

Petition Is Filed

H. J. Lowe today had a petition on file in superior court for appointment as administrator of the estate of the late Frank L. Andrews.

Stocks and other securities comprise the estate. The heirs are Andrews' widow, Mrs. Nannie Andrews, his daughter, Mary Andrews, both living at 810 South Ross street, two other daughters, Wilma Lowe, 806 South Birch street, and Harriett Hess, of Pasadena, and two sons, Donald Andrews, 941 West Camille street, and Frank Andrews, 518 Sprague.

Attorneys Scarborough, Forgy and Reinhaus represent the petitioner.

Motor Company Wins

The Pashley Motor company won a superior court judgment for $422.93 against Mayme Snyder, of Huntington Beach, when Judge E. J. Marks late yesterday heard the suit brought by Mayme Snyder against the motor company for recovery of an automobile.

It was alleged, at the trial, that the motor company had repossessed the car, upon which payments were delinquent. There was a dispute between the plaintiff and defendant as to the amount due.

In bringing suit to recover possession of the car, the plaintiff also asked $500 damages. Judge Marks denied both demands and gave the motor company judgment on its claim.

Attorney A. J. Thedieck, of Huntington Beach, represented the plaintiff. A. E. Koepsel, of Orange, was counsel for the motor company.

Three JAILED ON BURGLAR CHARGE

Charged with burglary, three members of one family were arrested yesterday by Ed McClellan and Joe Ryan, of the sheriff's office. They are P. Munoz, E. Munoz and Feiliz Munoz, all of Stanton, and are in the Orange county jail, awaiting arraignment.

The three men are charged with entering the home of F. Y. Takenaga, a Japanese, who resides at Stanton, on Oct. 19, 1925, when a trunk containing approximately $1000 worth of clothes, was stolen.

Some of the clothes were said to have been worn by one of the defendants, according to sheriff's officers. McClellan and Ryan left here early today for Santa Barbara, where they are working for a fourth arrest in the case.

Serve On Juries

RENO, Nev., Jan. 9.—"Scrap of paper" sometimes are profitable, Vader boys have found.

They picked up pieces of torn currency, strewn along the railway line, near Vader recently, by a supposed demented man.

Through the Little Falls State bank, the pieces of currency were forwarded to Washington, D. C., and the boys received $22.50 in exchange.

SUPERIOR JUDGES MARKS AND WILLIAMS WILL HAVE NO OPPOSITION AT POLLS

As the result of negotiations carried on by a committee of the Orange County Bar association, Superior Judges R. Y. Williams and E. J. Marks will be retained on the bench of the superior court of this county without opposition at the polls. At the same time, assurance is given that those who desire to run for a place on the bench—there are three positions to be filled at this year's elections—will center their efforts upon the third position on the bench.

Some weeks ago, members of the bar discussed the outlook for the coming election. It was learned that Judge Z. B. West, who has been on the bench for a quarter of a century, desired to retire. Judge Williams, whose term also ends Jan. 1, 1927, was persuaded to allow his name to be again considered for the judgeship. There was an expectation that Judge Williams, too, might retire, but it was finally determined that he would consent to submit his name at the next election, provided he would not be required to enter into the strife of an election. In fact, he would consent to run on the condition only.

Judge Marks holds the position to which he was appointed by Governor Richardson upon the resignation of Frank C. Drumm a few months ago. Drumm was elected in 1924 for a six-year term. Under the law, Marks' appointment would hold good only to the next election.

The suggestion of the bar association committee was that, instead of running for a short term, which is the easy way of designating the unexpired term in the third department of the superior court, Marks should run with Judge Williams for the long term. Marks thus stepping into Judge West's place.

WEEKLY SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

BRINGING OTHERS TO CHRIST

to be identified with Bartholomew, who is named among the 12 apostles.

Open Minded

It would seem rather strange if Nathanael, who came into this early group, should not have been one of the 12. He appears to have been a man of unusual open mindedness and sincerity of character. Though he expressed a certain popular prejudice against Nazareth, he was perfectly willing to accept Phillip's wise reply to the question, "Can there any good thing come out of Nazareth?" which was, "Come and see."

Will there come a time when every Christian will feel the intense responsibility that Andrew and Phillip felt for proclaiming the good news concerning Jesus? One does not need to be highly educated or trained to be an effective worker for Christ.

People are unwise when they attempt tasks beyond their training or equipment, but the most effective evangel throughout the history of the Christian church has been that of the simple witness of experience where men and women who have found Christ and who have been blessed in him have been willing simply and honestly to speak of all that they have found in him and to say to others, "Come and see." That is an evangel in which we may all share.

BICYCLE BURGLAR
ENTERS PARK HOME

Villa Park's "bicycle burglar" reappeared in that town Thursday night to enter and rob the home of Joe Kozina of clothing and silverware, valued at more than $100, according to a report filed at the sheriff's office yesterday afternoon.

The house was entered by breaking a rear window and raising the sash.

Bicycle tracks were found leading to the house, and are believed to be the same as those seen several months ago, when the "bicycle burglar" last paid his respects to the town.

A wrist watch, pair of slippers, two sets of cuff links, a set of knives, forks and spoons, several odd spoons and other silverware were reported stolen.

Dan Adams, of the sheriff's office, investigated the burglary. No member of the Kozina household was at home at the time.

Second Anniversary Of "R" Club Is Celebrated

the second anniversary of their formation as a club, the youthful members of the "R" club met last night at the rose room of Ketner's and enjoyed a chicken dinner as a preliminary to a delightful evening.

The table was most attractive, its sweet peas and dainty appointments being in full harmony with the rosy decorations of the room. Plates were found by means of pretty pink and white cards and at each place was a favor containing a saucy cap. The delectable menu ended with the sweets course which featured a pretty pink and white cake bearing anniversary greeting.

Covers were placed for Mrs. Rex McGill, Robert Wilson, Mrs. James Coulson, Mrs. Jack Kahler, Miss Henrietta Lykke and Miss Dorothy Thurston. After dinner, the young people continued to one of the favorite theaters where they enjoyed a theater party.

D. of A. R.

Believing that nothing contributes so greatly to the highest type of citizenship as education, the local chapter of Daughters of the American Revolution, meeting for the first time in 1926, at the home of their regent, Mrs. C. F. Smith, 1717 North Broadway, devoted the afternoon to education as a study topic.

Miss Jennie Lasby, chairman of international relations, discussed recent educational developments in Mexico, but the greater part of the program was handled by Miss Mabel G. Whiting, discussing "Early Education in the United States" and Mrs. Edith Thatcher whose theme was "Modern Development in Education."

Going back to early Colonial days, Miss Whiting pointed out that the Puritans came to America assuming that parents would teach their own children to read the Bible. Writing was considered unnecessary, although schools were soon established where youths of unusual promise might be trained for the ministry. The first recognition by the state, of the needs of education came in 1642 when Massachusetts directed town officials to see that parents were doing their duty in teaching children. Later came the appointment of special teachers of reading and writing, the first expression of the idea that education is not a matter of personal choice, but a state duty as otherwise the state would suffer.

Even at the time of the framing of the Constitution, education was not mentioned in that document as it was considered a private matter although somewhat under the control of the church. Miss Whiting declared that the Constitution made the modern educational methods possible by settling the question of religious freedom without which there would have been a series of antagonistic church systems.

"After 1750 there was a change in the schools; more subjects were taught and efforts were made to fit students for other occupations than the ministry. The rapid educational growth then ensuing was marked by the first public high school established in Boston in 1832 and by a battle for state schools, settled in the north in 1850," declared Miss Whiting.

"Modern Developments" as presented by Mrs. Thatcher, show that there has been an attempt to make the aims of education correspond with the aims of the democracy under which we live. Important factors in educational growth and changes, she cited as being immigration, with its marked changes in population; industrial revolution; increase in urban population in the last generation; extension of age limit for compulsory education; and studies in child psychology and changes in theory of laws of learning.

"The conception of education has changed," advanced Mrs. Thatcher, "from learning masses of facts, to learning how to learn. The chief duty of the teacher becomes guiding the thoughts of pupils and connecting their school work with life, rather than a mere imparting of knowledge."

"A committee appointed by the National Educational Association to study the problems of education, has formulated the seven aims of education in a democracy as health, which is emphasized in the new education, through the physical education work of all the schools; a command of the tools of learning, giving every child a common basis on which to build his individual development; worthy home-membership, (met by classes in home economics, and hygiene); vocations, providing a rational basis upon which to choose life work; good citizenship, developed through courses in social science, as well as by citizenship rating plans, and school activities; the worthy use of leisure, which becomes increasingly important as the leisure hours of workers grow longer, and ethical character, without which all education would be futile, and civilization would decline."

A friendly social note distinguished the after-program intermission during which Mrs. Smith was assisted in serving tea by Mrs. Robert Northerross, Mrs. Nellie Proctor Andrews, Miss Jennie Lasby, Mrs. Helen Guthrie and Mrs. William L. Deimling.

What should your bathroom cost?here are the lowest-priced bathrooms you can safely buy!

Beware of "bargain" plumbing fixtures! They may look like guaranteed fixtures—but it usually takes only a few months until hidden defects appear and make your fixtures so unsanitary that you must replace them. That's a double expense.

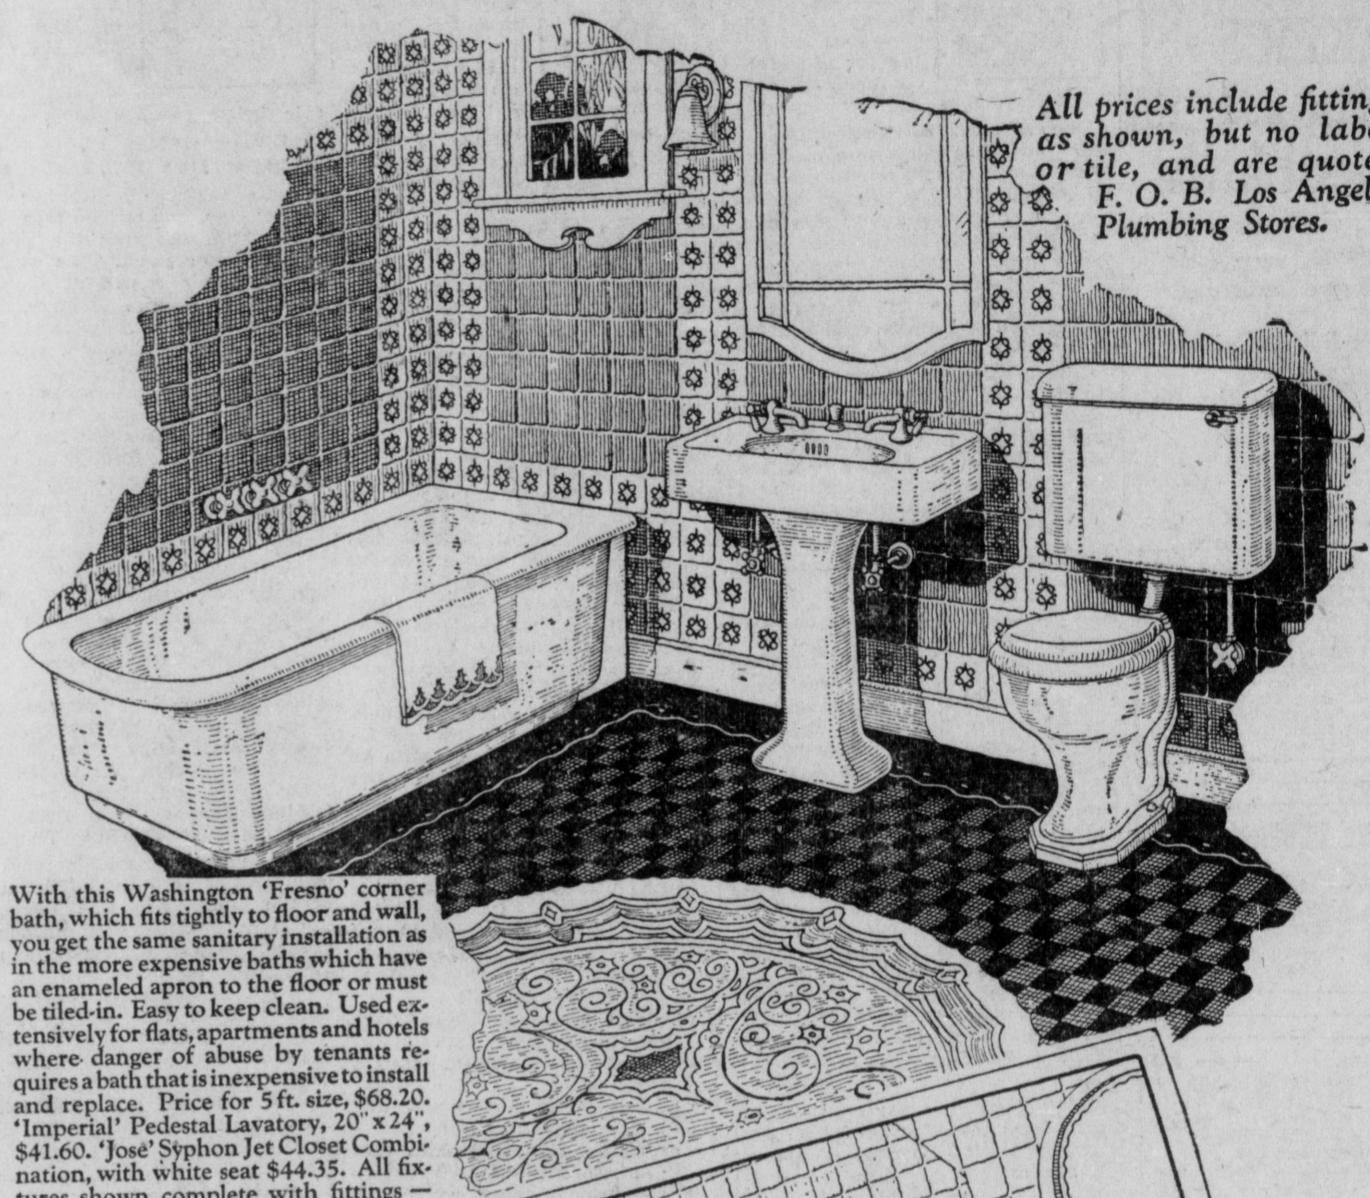

...The cost of guaranteed plumbing fixtures is so low that you can't save enough money on defective fixtures to make up for the risks you run. Protect your investment and your health with the written guarantee given by your Plumbing Merchant, which agrees to replace free of charge any Washington fixture that develops any defect after installation.

...The only safe place to buy Plumbing Fixtures is at your Plumbing Merchant's. He knows many practical ways to save money for you by economical and attractive arrangement of your fixtures. Ask him for your free copy of the Washington home builder's book. Let him help you select—from 200 different sizes and styles of Washington Guaranteed Fixtures—a guaranteed bathroom at just the price you want to pay.

...This signed guarantee absolutely insures the safety of your investment in plumbing fixtures. And should you ever wish to sell your home, the guarantee is a big selling help. Many big building firms feature their Washington Guaranteed Bathrooms. Yet the protection of this guarantee is free to you—for it costs no more to specify Washington fixtures.

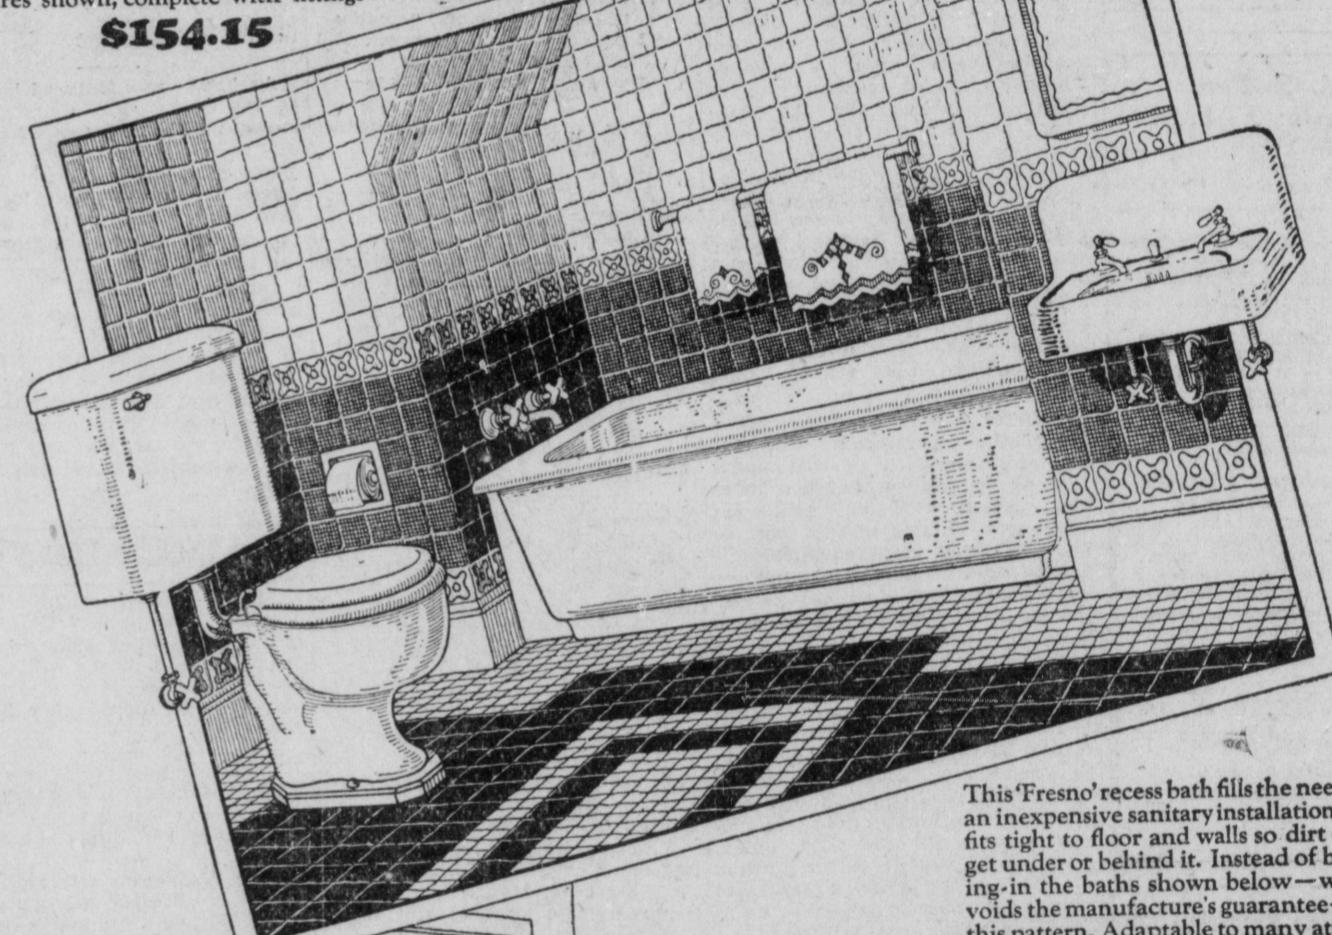

...You can identify Washington Guaranteed Fixtures by the Washington label and the big "W" moulded in the iron back. You can detect defective fixtures because they have no label and no manufacturer's initial or name on the back. An unusually low price warns you that something must be wrong. To protect yourself, ask for a written guarantee.

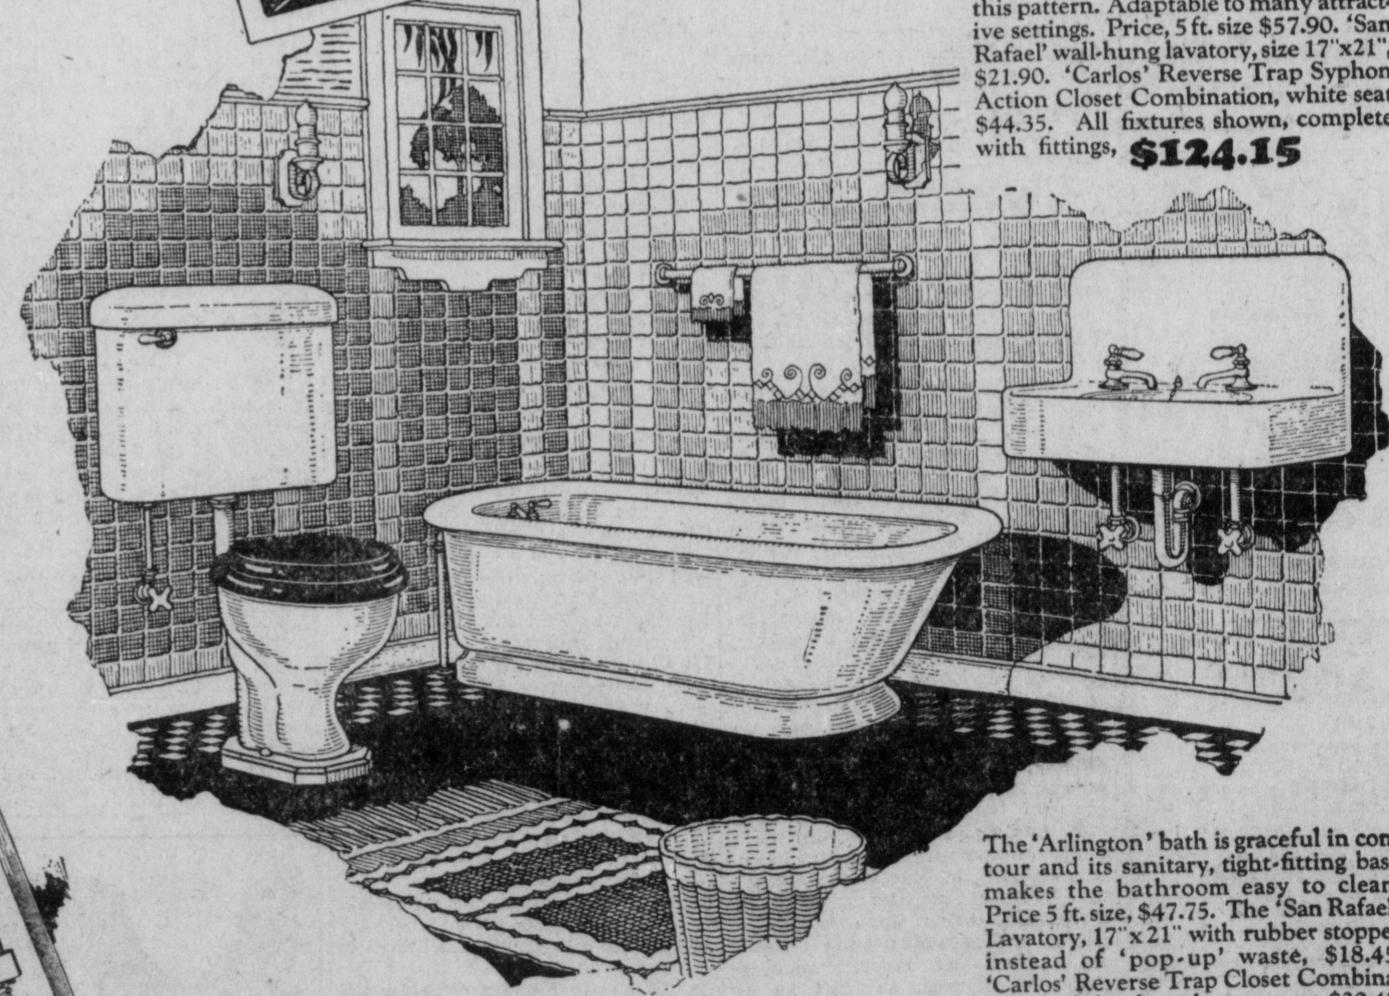

With this Washington 'Fresno' corner bath, which fits tightly to floor and wall, you get the same sanitary installation as in the more expensive baths which have an enameled apron to the floor or must be tiled-in. Easy to keep clean. Used extensively for flats, apartments and hotels where danger of abuse by tenants requires a bath that is inexpensive to install and replace. Price for 5 ft. size, $68.20. 'Imperial' Pedestal Lavatory, 20" x 24", $41.60. 'Jose' Syphon Jet Closet Combination, with white seat $44.35. All fixtures shown, complete with fittings —

This 'Fresno' recess bath fills the need for an inexpensive sanitary installation that fits tight to floor and walls so dirt can't get under or behind it. Instead of building-in the baths shown below—which voids the manufacturer's guarantee—use this pattern. Adaptable to many attractive settings. Price, 5 ft. size $57.90. 'San Rafael' wall-hung lavatory, size 17" x 21", $21.90. 'Carlos' Reverse Trap Syphon Action Closet Combination, white seat $44.35. All fixtures shown, complete with fittings, $124.15

The 'Arlington' bath is graceful in contour and its sanitary, tight-fitting base makes the bathroom easy to clean. Price 5 ft. size, $47.75. The 'San Rafael' Lavatory, 17" x 21" with rubber stopper instead of 'pop-up' waste, $18.45. 'Carlos' Reverse Trap Closet Combination with birch-mahogany seat $30.45. All fixtures shown, complete with fittings, $96.65

You'll Save Money by Consulting Your Plumbing Merchant

This Label Protects You

...All Washington Fixtures have passed the grading rules of the National Enamelled Ware Manufacturer's Association. An Inspection Bureau is maintained by the Enamelled Ware Manufacturers to pass promptly on all claims for defects.

...Washington Fixtures are installed in the Biltmore Hotel, New Rosslyn Annex, Pacific Mutual and Pacific Finance Bldgs., New Jonathan Club, New Chamber of Commerce and thousands of other prominent homes, buildings and apartments.

The 'Grammery' is the lowest-priced, fully guaranteed bath you can buy. It is of the same quality as the finest enamelled baths, except that the simpler design enables a lower price. Price, 5 ft. size, $42.20. The 'Colton' wall-hung lavatory, 17" x 19", costs $16.75. 'Mateo' Washdown Syphon Action Closet Combination, with birch-mahogany seat $28.45. All fixtures, complete with fittings as shown, only $87.40

WARNING! The 'Grammery' and 'Arlington' types of baths should never be built-in with tile or composition as no manufacturer guarantees these types of baths when built-in. Such an installation is almost certain to ruin the bath because the composition material chips the porcelain. These patterns are designed only for use as free standing fixtures.

...Ask your Plumbing Merchant for your copy of this Washington book of suggestions to homebuilders. If he cannot supply you, write to the Washington Iron Works, 1141 Mateo Street, Los Angeles, giving the name of your Plumbing Merchant and a copy will be sent to you without charge.

FIGURES SHOW U. S. HAS VAST STATE, COUNTY ROAD MILEAGE

Distance Represented by Highways Equivalent to 120 Times Around World

CALIFORNIA LEADS 11 WESTERN STATES

Large Traffic Increase Is Claimed Argument for Extensive Development

A comprehensive picture in figures of the highway mileage of the United States is furnished in data just compiled by the U. S. bureau of public roads as of Jan. 1, 1925, copies of which have just been received. Some surprising mileages are shown and the figures give an insight into the development and needs of the western states, where most of the national parks, monuments and forests are situated. From the mass of data, the engineering department of the Automobile Club of Southern California has compiled totals and segregated the rural mileage of the 11 western states.

Briefly summarized, it is shown that the total mileage of all classes of state and county roads in the United States is 3,002,899. This means that if an autist were to attempt to negotiate every one of these roads without duplicating any, he would travel a distance equal to 120 times around the world.

467,885 Miles Improved

Of these roads, 467,885 miles are improved, of which 128,343 miles are state and 339,542 are county roads.

Texas leads all states in total mileage, with 167,685 miles. Oklahoma is next, with more than 144,000 miles, and Kansas next with 129,000 miles.

Of interest in the west are the figures for the 11 western states. These comprise nearly one fourth of the total number and nearly 40 per cent of the total area of the country, but in round numbers they have only a little better than one sixth of the total roads.

The mileage of rural roads, state and county, for the 11 western states, is 505,746, of which 72,607 are improved.

California In Fore

California leads all western states in total mileage, with 75,618 miles; Colorado is second, with 67,286 miles; Montana is third with 67,175 miles; Oregon and Washington are fourth and fifth respectively.

While these mileages are impressive, it is pointed out by the Automobile Club of Southern California that there still is a vast

Advise Use of Chains In Mexico

Motorists driving to Ensenada and other points below Tia Juana should take skid chains, according to the San Diego representative of the National Automobile club. During or after rain storms these roads are dangerous and at times practically impassable. Permits must be secured from the Mexican authorities at the border for cars driving to all points south of Tia Juana.

CANYON ROAD IMPROVEMENTS ARE PROJECTED

A preliminary survey of the road has been ordered so that a joint plan of procedure may be devised in which the city and county may act concurrently in helping carry out improvements.

It is planned to eliminate many of the sharp curves, cut down some of the grades, widen the traction way and relay the roadbed. Not only will an effort be made to improve this outlet from San Fernando valley direct to the ocean, but it is hoped to extend the highway from Ventura boulevard through the upper end of the San Fernando valley to Owensmouth and Chatsworth, so as to connect with east and west boulevards and thence through the mountains to Saugus, making a direct connection with Bakersfield, Owens valley and other interior highways. It is stated that this will enable much of the inland traffic, bound for the seashore, to avoid the congested Cahuenga pass road to the northern end of the valley and it will serve the valley similarly.

It is announced that the proposed plans for the Topanga road are endorsed by many organizations, including the Automobile Club of Southern California.

program ahead for the western states, as some 90 per cent of the millions of acres of national domain, including the great scenic wonders of the world and immense forest preserves, affording recreational opportunities for the millions, are in these states.

Further argument for extensive highway development in the west is indicated by traffic studies for 1925, just announced by the California highway commission, which show that the increase in traffic on state highways in the last four years is 93 per cent.

The announcement followed check of the first week of license renewals, which showed that the new blue and white plates had been issued for only about 100,000 of the 1,400,000 motor vehicles in the state. To avoid penalties, due to January 31, motorists will have to submit applications at the rate of 65,000 a day, it was declared.

Total registrations for opening day in Sacramento and branch offices of the division amounted to 28,900. Officials said this was only a little better than one-half of the normal for previous years.

Tardiness of motorists in applying for new licenses was blamed by Chief Will H. Marsh to the fact that a new law has moved up the annual renewal period one month, causing it to start in January instead of February, as hitherto. A penalty of 100 per cent is effective after January 30 and Marsh predicted that motorists will pay in excess of $100,000 for their failure to understand the law.

Mars advised motorists to send their fees and certificates of registration direct to Sacramento or apply in person for re-registration in Sacramento or any of the branch offices.

Higher standards of family life are responsible for the lower death rate, says the bulletin of the California board of health.

"Children today are being saved for lives of future usefulness who would have died under the conditions of family environment and under the standards of child care prevailing 20 years ago," the bulletin reads.

"Among children under one year, of age in the United States registration area in 1920, nearly 17 per cent or about one-sixth, died before reaching the second birthday. In 1922, the mortality among these babies was only 8 per cent."

Now the owner of a new series Packard Six may lubricate all 45 points on the chassis requiring regular attention by the mere pull of a convenient plunger. And the oil rectifier on the motor makes it unnecessary to change crank case oil more than four or five times in a year of average driving.

MOTORISTS TARDY IN PLATE RENEWAL

Although but 20 days remain until the renewal season closes, less than eight per cent of the motorists of California have secured 1926 license renewals for their automobiles, the division of motor vehicles revealed today.

The announcement followed check of the first week of license renewals, which showed that the new blue and white plates had been issued for only about 100,000 of the 1,400,000 motor vehicles in the state. To avoid penalties, due to January 31, motorists will have to submit applications at the rate of 65,000 a day, it was declared.

The initial meeting of chief rangers of the United States will be held in the shadows of Sequoia's big trees to discuss their particular and joint problems in handling a three million crop of annual visitors.

"Some of the more important topics to be discussed," says Sam T. Woodring, chief ranger of Yellowstone, who will be in charge of the conference, "are fire-fighting methods and equipment, the protection and feeding of wild animals, winter season patrols, and predatory animal control."

The remarkable increase in visitors to the various national parks has brought many perplexing problems in securing capable ranger service personnel. Since approximately 90 per cent of national park visitors make contact with the rangers only, it is considered of the greatest importance to secure able-bodied, courteous men, capable of carrying out the high ideals set by Director Stephen T. Mather and his assistants.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 9.—Former service men of California are gradually recuperating from the economic loss suffered by dropping their regular occupation to take up arms for their country during the World War.

World war veterans are allowed $100 property tax exemption in this state. Data compiled by M. D. Lack, secretary of the state board of equalization, shows that 21,293 more war veterans took advantage of the $100 exemption this year than in 1924.

Exemptions totaling $62,590,710 were granted last year to 99,645 applicants. This year, 120,938 veterans were exempted in the sum of $69,127,986.

Tunes Pianos On Way Round World

SAO JAULO, Brazil, Jan. 9.—Otto H. Richter, American, who started out from his home town, Bangor, Maine, on April 11, 1922, to travel around the world on foot, has arrived in Sao Paulo.

Richter is tramping around the world in the hope of securing a purse of $10,000, which, he says, has been offered by a New York newspaper for the feat.

He has so far crossed the United States, from Maine to Los Angeles, and has visited Mexico, Cuba, Jamaica, Guatemala, Honduras, Nicaragua, Costa Rica, Panama, Columbia, Ecuador, Peru, Bolivia, Argentina, Uruguay and Brazil.

Richter is paying his way by giving lectures and musical entertainments and tuning pianos.

ORANGE, Jan. 9.—The first of a series of "vanishing luncheons" to be given by various members of the Woman's club was given Thursday at 1 o'clock by Mrs. J. F. Keller, at her home, 615 East Chapman avenue, with the members of the executive board as her guests. Mrs. Howard Whitney, daughter of Mrs. Keller, assisted. Members of the executive board present were Mrs. B. D. Stanley, Mrs. C. C. Bonebrake, Mrs. O. K. Dean, Mrs. Donald Smiley, Mrs. Henry Meier, Mrs. Cal Lester, Mrs. Clyde Watson, Mrs. A. E. Schooley, Mrs. A. H. Halleck, Miss Louise Beer and the hostess, Mrs. J. F. Keller, and Mrs. Howard Whitney.

R. A. Condee, president of the State Agricultural society and a member of the state board of regents of the University of California, was a visitor in Orange, yesterday. Mr. Condee, whose home is in Chino, has for a great number of years been in charge of the agricultural department of the California Junior Republic and is also a member of the faculty of the Chino high school.

"We have passed through two stages. One we would represent by the stone and wood age. We are just passing out of what I would call the mechanical age. I mean that we have worked on the efficiency end of business so long that we have absolutely taken all initiative out of those working in the organization. When you take the initiative out of those who are associated with you and expect them to become a machine, you have a very poor machine. Unless these conditions are changed, we can not expect to make the progress in the future that has been made in the past. The indications are, though, that we are coming into the man age—that large organizations are beginning to realize the tremendous assets in the well-trained mind and seeing that each particular person is placed in his proper position.

Roger W. Babson tells us that 95 per cent of the people are in their present jobs by chance. If you were overhauling a car, and by chance would place the differential on the front axle instead of in its proper position, you could not expect to get very much service out of the car."

FULLERTON

FULLERTON, Jan. 9.—Mrs. Leslie Wupperman and baby daughter left yesterday for their home in Yuma, after visit with her mother, Mrs. Ida Stalnaker.

Election of officers will feature the meeting of the Business and Professional Women's club at McFarland's cafe, Tuesday evening. An interesting program is being arranged for the affair.

A group to Royal Neighbors from the local lodge attended the installation of officers of Corona chapter, held in Corona last evening. The Fullerton party included Mrs. Erma Jones, Mr. and Mrs. Ray Freeman, Mrs. Sarah Umlin, Mr. and Mrs. M. R. Colburn, Mrs. George Esmay.

Attended by more than 150 members, the meeting of the Woman's Relief corps held yesterday in Odd Fellows' hall, was preceded by a pot-luck luncheon. Plans were made for the installation of officers on January 2, at 8 o'clock.

A graded social was held last evening by the congregation of the First Baptist church, in the church parlor. A concert program arranged by Mrs. Albert Stuelke, including numbers by the high school glee club, was presented before the games were introduced.

Members of the Edison club and Edison club auxiliary will meet in their clubrooms Tuesday evening for a party. Mrs. Paul Langlie and Mrs. C. B. Hutchinson will be hostesses at cards, while other amusement will be provided for those who do not care to play.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Culp entertained a group of friends at their home last evening. Their guests include Mr. and Mrs. T. D. Robertson, Mrs. Elizabeth Key, Mr. and Mrs. Walker, Roy Cole, Dr. and Mrs. Frank, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Morgan, Miss Anna Windhor and Mrs. L. D. Spencer.

Smooth, flooding power is assured in this new Six—and the Force Feed Lubricating System sends oil under pressure to the main, connecting rod and cam shaft bearings, and the timing chain.

HUGE SHIPMENT OF STUDEBAKER CARS RECEIVED

Significant of the growing prosperity of Orange county and of the policy which has enabled his firm to build up one of the strongest automobile agencies in Southern California, Harry D. Riley, Studebaker distributor for Orange county, this week took delivery on seven carloads of Studebaker automobiles valued at near $100,000.

According to Riley, records of the railway companies in the county show that this is the largest single consignment of automobiles ever received in this county.

The shipment, of which many cars already are sold, consists of cars of all types manufactured by the Studebaker factory, and was distributed to agencies at Anaheim, Orange, Huntington Beach and Santa Ana.

Riley does not expect this shipment will supply his demands for long. His organization maintains at all agencies a complete automotive service shop for Studebaker owners and for the reconditioning of cars. His crews of mechanics are under continual tutelage and in constant touch with the Studebaker factory to enable them to keep abreast of the latest methods of servicing Studebakers placed in the county.

Christian Science Lecture Date Set

FULLERTON, Jan. 9.—A free lecture on Christian Science will be delivered at the Rialto theater, 221 North Spadra road, Fullerton, January 11, at 8 o'clock, by Algernon Hervey-Bathurst, C. S. B., member of the board of lecturership of the First Church of Christ, Scientist, of Boston. The public is invited to attend.

The Better BUICK

Starts easily

Buick motor cars are designed to run efficiently in every temperature, and under every climatic condition.

Buicks start quickly, even at zero. The new, high-speed starting motor accomplishes this most desirable result.

Runs smoothly

Buick Automatic Heat Control reduces another cold-weather starting annoyance—that of buckling, splitting, misfiring engines. The exclusive Buick feature heats the fuel supply, and saves gasoline, automatically and immediately.

Stops safely

In rain, snow or sleet Buick mechanical 4-wheel brakes stop the car firmly, in a straight line. Neither heat nor cold affects the direct mechanical action of these brakes. There is no liquid in them to expand, contract or leak away.

The Buick engine is full-pressure lubricated. Every part gets a flood of oil as soon as the engine starts, every day in the year. An emergency feed tube siphons oil to the pump, even though the cold has congealed the oil around the pump screen.

Let's Get This Straight--What Jewett Means by a "New-Day" Car

It means a car with instant acceleration—a flashing "pick-up" that shoots you through traffic quick as thought.

But it means, also, equally quick "stopping"—the instant, unfailing, cushioned stop possible only with Paige-Hydraulic 4-wheel brakes.

It means, too, wider, freer, clearer vision than any former car has ever had—almost complete elimination of the deadly "blind spot."

It means an ease of steering and control that makes your car seem responsive more to your wish than to your touch.

It means an uncanny ability to slip into parking places unbelievably small.

It means a generous interior roominess—roomy comfort rivaling that of the biggest sedans. And it means, too, a quality Sedan, Paige-Built.

THERE have been speedy cars before this—economical cars—comfortable cars—easily steered cars—quickly accelerated cars—but until The New-Day Jewett there never was one car embodying every last one of these essential qualities! Three minutes after you take the wheel of this New-Day Jewett-Six—you'll know that Jewett, and only Jewett, has built such a truly new-day car!

W. G. M'MORRAN

W. G. M'Morran, of San Francisco, who is to assist in putting on the "round up" at the Y. M. C. A. next week, arrived in Santa Ana today to take charge of preparations for the event.

M'Morran is one of the state secretaries of the Y. M. C. A. in California and he has had extensive experience in membership campaigns in other cities throughout the state.

"The roundup idea seems to catch on to popular favor," says M'Morran. "It suggests the old days, when the cattle ranges extended over most of the land, and when cowboys and rough riders were a common sight in every town. We are using that idea as the basis for our membership campaigns in many cities, and I believe that the Santa Ana men will have as much fun with it as was the case in Pomona, San Diego, Riverside, San Jose and other places where we have used it."

"At the barbecue next Monday night, when we launch the active work of the roundup, we hope that every man will come dressed to look the part of a cowboy. Just for fun, we will award a prize to the 'meanest looking' hombre on Monday evening, and I understand that a number of prominent citizens are ambitious to win this honor."

M'Morran is enthusiastic about the Y. M. C. A. building in Santa Ana, and he expresses considerable surprise that it is not more largely used by the men and boys.

"You have a wonderful building here," he said, "one of the finest in California, and in all the western states. It ought to be crowded day and night by the boys and men of the community, and I believe that it will be far more largely used when people come to understand the variety of the activities being carried on, and the great opportunities offered by them. We are out after 300 new members in the next two weeks, and from the start the workers have made I believe we shall get them."

LAGUNA BEACH

LAGUNA BEACH, Jan. 9.—Karl Yens, the artist, has in his possession a collection of about 25 silhouettes made by the master G. Hempel, of Munich, Germany. The collection was shown at the Laguna Beach school last Tuesday and created a stir among those who saw it. The silhouettes are cut out of black paper with a sharp pair of very tiny scissors and then mounted on white paper. That sounds commonplace but Hempel has raised his work to the level of high art, according to Mr. Yens, who is an authority on art subjects, a winner of many prizes and a famous member of the Laguna Beach art colony.

The pictures will be on exhibit in the Los Angeles Museum of Fine Art.

Madame Beatrice Bowman, a grand opera singer, who is wintering in Laguna Beach, and who has taken the William Swift Daniel cottage on the beach front, gave an interesting musical evening this week. In addition to Madame Bowman, there were other musical celebrities present who gave of their music, Miss Anna Priscilla Risher, famous composer; Mrs. Frederick Schwankovsky, pianist and lecturer.

A business meeting of the Art association is called for Monday evening in the Art gallery, at 8 o'clock.

Palm Springs has been a popular place with Laguna Beach folk during the last week. Mr. and Mrs. Seward A. Simons took over in their car, Miss Maude Robertson and Miss Lucinda Griffith. Also seen over on the desert were William A. Griffith on a sketching tour, Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Canuteson, Mr. and Mrs. A. R. Burns and Mr. and Mrs. Perry Warren.

Mr. and Mrs. W. I. Pinkney, of Alta Loma, have come to Laguna Beach to spend the winter. They have taken one of the cottages here.

Miss Betty Bishop, of Los Angeles, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Norman Bishop, was a house guest at the home of Mr. and Mrs. William A. Griffith over the week-end.

Mrs. Bessie Borich, who lost her life in the grandstand disaster at Pasadena was a friend of Mrs. Ida Randall Bolles, the curator of the Laguna Beach Art gallery. Christmas dinner found them both at the home of another friend, Mrs. Catherine Dobson, of Los Angeles, who is in a Pasadena hospital in a critical condition due to the crash. Her four-year-old son is also seriously hurt.

Mrs. N. E. West, a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Yoch, of Santa Ana, is confined to her bed with a nurse in attendance. Acute stomach trouble is the cause of her illness.

Mrs. Brayton Norton, who is ill in her Laguna Beach home, has just escaped pneumonia, according to reports given out.

WESTERN AUTO EMPLOYEES GET ANNUAL BONUS

During the first week of January, the Western Auto Supply company distributed to its employees a bonus in the form of common stock in the company.

Each employee who had been in the service of the company for one calendar year, ended January 1, received a bonus amounting to one-twelfth of his annual earnings.

This system of distribution has been in effect at the Western Auto Supply company during the last few years. This year, more than 500 employees enjoyed the bonus, which, according to George Pepperdine, president of the company, amounted to something like $100,000.

Since its inception, the officials of Western Auto have encouraged employees to become stockholders until today a goodly portion of the outstanding stock is in the hands of those who are actively engaged in the service of the company and who are responsible for the rapid growth of the concern.

The Western Auto Supply company advocates the theory that the interests of the employee and employer are mutual and that, in order to expect the best co-operation from its employees, any concern must have the interest of its employees at heart.

GARDEN GROVE

GARDEN GROVE, Jan. 9.—Mrs. George Lewis entertained the C. C. club at her home on Wednesday afternoon.

The first part of the afternoon was donated to sewing, with cards following.

In place of the regular afternoon meeting in two weeks, Mrs. C. Paull will entertain the members and their husbands with an evening party on January 19. Mrs. Jess Long will be hostess to the club on the first Wednesday afternoon in February.

The hostess served delicious refreshments. Among those present were Mrs. Charles McCart, of Los Angeles; Mrs. C. Paull, Mrs. C. L. Pearson, Mrs. Jess Long, Mrs. E. E. Miles, Mrs. Thomas Plant, Mrs. P. N. Larson, Mrs. R. R. Rosset, Mrs. Harry Meyer, Mrs. Harold Hevener and Mrs. F. C. Weaver.

The hours for the local branch library are from 2 p. m. until 6 p. m. Several non-fiction books have been added to the library recently and there is a good collection of fiction books. Books may be requested if there is something wanted that is not in the library.

The 500 club was entertained

A day of prayer was observed at the Baptist church on Wednesday with a goodly number present.

Mrs. P. M. German, George Tyler, Gien Bowers, the Rev. William Thomas and the Rev. Charles Hurlbut had charge of the program in the afternoon.

In the evening, the Rev. Charles Hurlbut took charge of the regular Wednesday evening prayer meeting.

Recent dinner guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. F. P. Rosset were Miss C. Hannum, of Los Angeles; Miss Ida Smith and Whitmore Smith, of Culver City, and Mr. and Mrs. R. R. Rosset and two children.

Miss Ida Smith and brother, Whitmore Smith, have rented the H. B. Spalding place and will move to Garden Grove soon.

Mr. and Mrs. Orval Handy and Mrs. Chapman, of Long Beach, were guests of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Haynes on Wednesday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. B. A. Lieberman and two children of Santa Ana, spent Wednesday evening with Mr. and Mrs. L. A. Ford.

Mr. and Mrs. E. P. Rosset are spending from Tuesday until Saturday at Gilman Hot Springs.

Mr. and Mrs. McVay and daughter of Higherove, who were former residents of Garden Grove, were Sunday visitors at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Kerner.

Mrs. Stella Vaille and son, Robert of Alhambra, spent Sunday at the J. D. Price home.

WILL SCATTER SMITH'S ASHES OVER STADIUM

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 9.—Following a conference of friends of Andy Smith, dead coach of football, here with his brother Richard M. Smith, who arrived from the west today to take charge of the body, burial, it was announced, will take place next Monday afternoon at DuBois, Pa., in the Smith family plot.

Overruling the last wishes of the dead coach, which requested his ashes be strewn over the field of the University of California memorial stadium at Berkeley, it was decided that Andy should be laid to rest beside the bodies of his father, mother and sister.

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 9.—Andy Smith's ashes will be consigned to the winds and scattered over the field of his last achievements, the Memorial stadium of the University of California at Berkeley.

This was made known today when the contents of a codicil to Smith's will was disclosed. In the codicil, Smith generally outlined his own funeral arrangements and set aside $10,000 from his estate to provide two scholarships for members of the football squad at the University of California to be known as "the Andrew Latham Smith Scholarships."

A private service for Smith was to be held at an undertaking establishment this afternoon. An army of his admirers will assemble to pay their last tribute to one of old Penn's greatest football heroes.

The codicil made several changes from his will drawn up several months ago in California and directed that his body be shipped to the Elks club at Berkeley to be viewed by his friends. The remains are then to be cremated and the ashes strewn over the field in the Memorial stadium, the arena of many of his greatest victories.

The codicil departs from Smith's will in that the scholarships endowment replaces an original bequest of $20,000 to the university.

The Elks club is bequeathed $2000 and the remainder of his estate, valued at approximately $30,000, is to be divided between the Sigma Alpha Epsilon, Smith's fraternity, and the Skull and Keys, interfraternity organization at the University of California.

Definite disclosure of Smith's wishes in the disposal of his estate and remains, it was expected, would await the arrival of his brother, Richard H. Smith, of Kansas City, who was to arrive today in time for the memorial services arranged by the dead athlete's friends and admirers in this city for this afternoon.

Hundreds of telegrams of tribute and condolence from the Pacific coast and other parts of the country last night were received by William N. ("Bill") Hollenback, former Pennsylvania star, who was at Smith's death bed and took over the funeral arrangements for his former teammate pending the arrival of Smith's brother.

PRICE, MADIGAN SUGGESTED AS SMITH'S SUCCESSOR.

BERKELEY, Calif., Jan. 9.—While the State University today prepared to receive the ashes of "Andy" Smith, football mentor, and scatter them over the memorial stadium as he had requested, the question of who will be chosen to fill his post was discussed.

Quick action is necessary in order that spring training may not be delayed, and the executive committee of the associated students is scheduled to meet Wednesday to discuss the matter.

"Nibs" Price, assistant coach for many years, is being considered, it was rumored. Applications are expected from many mentors of worth for the position, a choice one and there will be no hasty action in making the selection.

"Slip" Madigan, football coach at St. Mary's college, was among those mentioned today. Madigan, who has developed strong teams from a limited enrollment at St. Mary's, was mentioned for Smith's post weeks ago when rumor said Smith might become coach at Columbia University, New York.

DOLLAR, SHIP MAGNATE, BUYS VERNON TIGERS

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 9.—Sale of the Vernon baseball club to Herbert Fleishhacker, San Francisco banker, representing Stanley Dollar, shipping magnate, was to be ratified today at the annual meeting of the Pacific Coast league officials.

The league owners will sign papers transferring the Salt Lake club to Los Angeles, it has been agreed.

The Vernon team is to be moved intact to the bay city, with William H. McCarthy, former president of the Coast league, at the head of the club.

Purchase of the Tigers was effected after more than seven months of negotiations. Ed R. Maier, who held the franchise, received between $200,000 and $225,000, it was said.

J. Cal Ewing, owner of the Oakland club, is said to have received $140,000 for withdrawing his right of protest to the transfer.

San Francisco will have continuous baseball as a result of the purchase by Dollar and Fleishhacker.

Walter M. McCredie will act as manager.

The purchasers have already made plans with the San Francisco Seal owners, it was learned, to build a new park in the bay city.

Aside from the Vernon deal, there was little interest in the meeting of the Coast league baseball owners. Establishment of a small league in the northwest under patronage of the Coast league was a matter attracting some attention. Seattle, Everett and Tacoma are cities interested in the venture.

VERNON CLUB SALE NOT COMPLETED, CLAIM

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 9.—The deal whereby the Vernon team of the Pacific Coast league becomes the property of Stanley Dollar, local shipping magnate, still is incomplete, but is expected to go through, it was said here today.

Dollar admitted that he is negotiating for the purchase, while William H. McCarthy, former president of the Coast league, has been approached regarding taking the presidency of the club.

The one obstacle liable to block the deal is the fact that J. Cal Ewing, owner of the Oakland team, frowns on the possibility of another team in the bay region. He agreed to change this frown into a smile for $140,000, and if the price is not too steep, the sale is assured, reports say.

TRUCKERS PLAY PAINTERS FOR TITLE SUNDAY

Eyes of all Orange county fans will be switched tomorrow to Costa Mesa where the Van Dien-Young company and the Shields Paint company baseball teams, both of Santa Ana, will clash in the game that will decide the status of the race for the championship of the Orange County Harbor league.

Sunday's combats officially terminate the 1925-26 season although one game between the Painters and Laguna Beach still remains to be replayed.

In addition to the Trucker-Painter struggle, there will be games at Tustin between Tustin and Costa Mesa and at Laguna Beach between the Cavemen and Cypress.

A victory for the Van Dien-Youngs will clinch the title for the Traders. If the Painters win, the race then will end in a deadlock between the Van Dien-Youngs and Westminster who will take the Santa Ana Woodmen by forfeit.

Fans will watch closely the battles of several players, Randolph Bell, "Husky" Jackson and Eric Jamison, by healthy clouting, all have chances to lead the league in hitting. Benny Page now is ahead but he will not play Sunday as his team, Westminster, will be idle and the three men mentioned may overtake him.

ANDY SMITH ESTATE IS LEFT TO BEARS; $10,000 ATHLETIC SCHOLARSHIP PLANNED

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 9.—The entire estate of Andy Smith, University of California football coach who died in Philadelphia, is left to the university. Attorney Milton Farmer, a personal friend, revealed today.

Smith was worth approximately $30,000, it was said, $10,000 of which is to go to establishing two athletic scholarships for upper class football players. The remainder goes into the university fund.

Smith's brother, Richard Smith, was not mentioned in the will, which had intended to sign up, despite other flattering offers from eastern institutions, was too ill even to glance at the contract.

since he entered the hospital at Philadelphia will be turned over to his brother as soon as he arrives there. While no disclosure was made as to the nature of it, the codicil is believed to relate to the disposition of Smith's remains.

During his illness the coach received a new contract calling for his signature from the University of California, for a further term of four years at $12,500 a year. Smith, who had intended to sign up, despite other flattering offers from eastern institutions, was too ill even to glance at the contract.

POLY GOLFERS ORGANIZE; WILL ARRANGE TOURNAMENTS WITH COAST LEAGUE TEAMS

Golf is coming to the fore at Santa Ana high school and is opening up a new field of competitive athletics for the boys. It is intended to enter a "foursome" in play-offs against other schools of the Coast Preparatory League this year.

The Tigers probably will start as follows: Hinrichs, center; Rice and Richards, forwards; and White and George, guards. Harris' outfit practiced last night and showed considerable class.

Pringle, Ed Perry, Howard Keegan, Bob McKean and Claude Seybert. The college players are Lester Smith, Edwin Staus, Edwin Durkee and Gerald Twist.

Coach Walter Scott is to have charge of golfing activities. Matches probably will be held with Alhambra, Pasadena, Long Beach and San Diego.

A mythical title will be involved in the playoffs. No set league schedule will be followed. However, the golf team that wins all challenges, will be entitled to claim a championship.

TROJANS BEAT UTAH

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 9.—U. S. C.'s basketball squad defeated the Utah Aggies, 32 to 28, here last night. The Aggies nearly overcome U. S. C.'s early lead in the last few minutes of play.

HUDKINS WILLING TO MEET KANSAS

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 9.—Clyde Hudkins, manager of the Los Angeles Huskies, offered $22,000 as a guarantee to Rocky Kansas, world's lightweight champion, for a championship battle here.

Hudkins said his fighting brother was ready and anxious to meet Kansas here soon, the battle to go 10 rounds to a decision.

ESPINOSA AND FRASER SHOOT 68'S TO LEAD

Favorites Survive Opening Qualifying Round; Smith And Melhorn "Well Up"

LOS ANGELES COUNTRY CLUB, LOS ANGELES, Jan. 9.—While over 200 golfers teed off here today in the second 18 hole round of the Los Angeles $10,000 open, only 121 were conceded a chance to reach the finals of the classic, which will be played over 36 holes here tomorrow.

With the last of the golfers finishing at twilight today, the lowest 64 and ties will leave their clubs in the caddy house, while those not so fortunate will look forward to next year when the richest tournament of golfdom will be staged again in Southern California.

All the favorites survived the first round, held yesterday. Al Espinosa of Chicago and Chick Fraser of Los Angeles led the field in the first round, each negotiating the south course in 63 strokes, two under par.

Harris Cooper, Dallas, Tex.; Joe Kirkwood, New York, and Frank Walsh, Appleton, Wis., were close behind with seventies. Dallas Jeffers of Riverside, Calif., led the golfers on the north course, which has a par of 72, by shooting a brilliant 71.

Other favorites who finished "well up" in the first round were MacDonald Smith, New York; Bob by Crickshank, Oklahoma City; Ed Geyer, Chicago; J. J. McHugh, San Francisco; George Von Elm, Los Angeles amateur; Bill Melhorn, Chicago, and Dewey Weber, Chicago.

Virtually all the "big guns" shot over the north course today. The visitors are all better acquainted with this course and it is probable that the low mark on the north course yesterday, 71, will be lowered today.

The 121 golfers who stand a chance of reaching the finals all shot 80 or lower yesterday.

Veterans of the greens declare that all golfers that shoot under 152 for the total of the first and second rounds will reach the finals. They shake their heads in doubt, however, that any above this mark will gain admission to the select 64.

Perfect weather has attended the tournament. The Los Angeles Country club is only five miles from the Pacific ocean, and a slight breeze from this big body of water reduces the intensity of the sun.

Approximately 5000 persons followed the golfers yesterday and today. The gallery will be much larger tomorrow, and arrangements have been made to handle the large crowd.

S. A. TENNIS SQUAD TO PLAY TOMORROW

The Santa Ana Chamber of Commerce tennis team will make its first home start of the season tomorrow morning when it meets the powerful Arroyo Seco Young Men's club team from Los Angeles on the Santa Ana high school courts. Play will begin at 10 o'clock.

The visitors boast an all-star squad that is headed by Jack De Lara, winner of the Ojai tournament last year, and Joe Clano, who recently eliminated Harold Godshell, one of the leading players in the state, in a Santa Monica tournament.

John Cress, Don Jerome, Emil Foust, Clifford Marston, E. Pettitt and Kenneth Ranney will play for the locals. The Santa Ana team will entertain the visitors at the Ketner cafe at noon.

NEWS from ORANGE COUNTY

HARBOR GROUP OFFERS AID TO RIVERSIDE MAN

NEWPORT BEACH, Jan. 9.—An offer of assistance to Francis Cuttill, of Riverside, who is now in Washington, D. C., in an effort to prevent a cut in the appropriations for reforestation and water conservation in the San Bernardino mountains; a plea for immediate action on securing a new Southern Pacific railroad depot here; the approval of the railroad's plans for a union depot in Los Angeles, the announcement that Colvin Brown, of the U. S. Chamber of Commerce, of Washington, D. C., is to speak at the annual meeting of the Newport Harbor Chamber of Commerce and an invitation to the Associated Chambers of Commerce of Orange county to hold the next meeting at the Newport Harbor Yacht club were the main points of a meeting of the directors of the Orange County Harbor Chamber of Commerce held here Thursday evening.

Both the offer of assistance to Cuttill and the plea for action on a new depot here were made by the directors in an effort to promote the best interests of the harbor district, it was declared.

The approval of the union depot plan was made after it had been brought out that the depot plan, as proposed by the railroads, would cut approximately 15 minutes from the running time of the Pacific Electric cars between the harbor area and Los Angeles. The depot would also eliminate the tedious journey from eastern trains to the Pacific Electric depot in Los Angeles, it was pointed out.

The date of the annual meeting of the Orange County Harbor Chamber of Commerce was set for January 22. The annual session of the harbor body will be held at the Costa Mesa Woman's clubhouse.

The new board of directors of the harbor chamber will organize and elect officers at a special meeting to be held next Wednesday at the yacht club.

RE-ELECT ELLIOTT REALTORS' CHIEF

FULLERTON, Jan. 9.—Officers for 1926 were elected by the Fullerton Realty board at its luncheon meeting in McFarland's Cafe, yesterday noon. E. P. Elliott was unanimously chosen to serve another term as president of the organization. Mrs. Mae Reeve is the new first vice president; Sig Salveson is second vice president; Hugh Nisbett is secretary and H. B. Benis is treasurer.

William E. Askin was elected a member of the board. Discussion of membership fees for salesmen was postponed until the next meeting.

Irwins Purchase Service Concern

FULLERTON, Jan. 9.—Purchase of the Paul D. Price Auto Service company, Inc., 113 South Spadra road, by Irwin and Irwin, local real estate brokers, was announced today. Arrangements are now being made to close the affairs of the old corporation and as soon as this is accomplished, it will be given a new name.

Ralph Irwin and Wendell Irwin will manage the service company. Howard Irwin still conducting his real estate business.

Will Attend L. B. Chamber Meeting

NEWPORT BEACH, Jan. 9.—A number of local men were today making plans to attend the annual meeting of the Laguna Beach Chamber of Commerce, which will be held at the art colony, January 12. Election of officers is to be held at that time by the Laguna Beach organization.

J. A. Porter, Frank Rhinehart, Andrew H. Wilson, J. P. Grisley, Lew Wallace, George Peabody and Harry Welch are among the local persons who will attend the Laguna meeting.

CORONA DEL MAR

CORONA DEL MAR, Jan. 9.—Howard B. Lewis and family, who have been with Mr. Lewis' parents here for several months, have gone to Houston, Texas, where Mr. Lewis will take up a line of mechanical research work backed by a wealthy man interested in such investigations. Mr. Lewis was formerly professor of mathematics in the Riviera high school, but resigned to take up this work.

Antar Deraga, who operates a U. S. weather observation station here, has lately acquired some expensive new instruments for making records along various lines of weather observation, and now has them all in operation, beginning the new year with a whirl, so to speak, as all the delicate and complicated machinery revolves when in operation. Mr. Deraga states that this station is now on a par with any in the country, and if anything in the way of weather gets away from him, it will have to get up again.

Mr. and Mrs. Louis Robinson, of Trabuco, are receiving congratulations from their friends over the safe arrival of a son, January 6.

Chief Pilot

Here is Frank Mason, of Brea, who was elected commodore of the Brea Air club at last night's meeting of the organization at Fullerton.

FRANK MASON ELECTED HEAD OF AIR CLUB

FULLERTON, Jan. 9.—The name of the airport at Lotus station, between Brea and Placentia, which has been recognized by the United States Army air service as an official landing field to be chartered on all future air maps, will not be changed until the chambers of commerce in northern Orange county have been given an opportunity to express an opinion.

That was the decision of the delegates present at the Brea Air club meeting at McFarland's Cafe, Fullerton, last night. Various suggestions for names were made, Northern Orange County Airport being the most popular, but on motion of W. N. Fox, vice commodore of the Aero Club of Long Beach, the matter was left to be submitted to the commercial bodies in the surrounding towns.

Frank Mason, of Brea, who has been secretary and publicity manager of the Brea Air club since it started last September, was elected by unanimous vote to the office of commodore. Other officers chosen at last night's meeting were Bill Tremaine, vice commodore; Ellery Tremaine, rear-commodore; B. N. (Peek) Smith, secretary, and Ethel Weaver, treasurer.

Talks on aviation topics were made by Joseph Skidmore, Laguna Beach realtor, who plans to use airplanes regularly next summer to sell real estate; J. O. York, commodore of the Aero Club of Long Beach; Earl Daugherty and Al Elbrite, famous Long Beach pilots; Donald Smith and others, while W. N. Fox, of plans to establish an annual aeronautical exposition in Long Beach which is expected to attract manufacturers of aircraft, motors and accessories from all over the United States.

Talkers from outside points emphasized the fact that the interest in aviation displayed in the Fullerton district is causing nation-wide comment and much favorable publicity in the national magazines, and eastern builders of airships are reported as looking favorably towards Southern California as the future home of aircraft manufacture.

Mrs. Whitefield Dies In Denver

FULLERTON, Jan. 9.—Word has been received here of the death of Mrs. Fern Whitefield, who passed away in Denver, last night. Surviving her are her invalid husband and three children. Until a short time ago, the Whitefields resided in this city. He was owner of the Whitefield studios in Fullerton and Santa Ana.

EL TORO

EL TORO, Jan. 9.—New officers for the Woman's club were elected at the hall recently. Mrs. Levi Gockley succeeds Mrs. R. B. Waterman as president, Mrs. John Osterman is the new vice president, Mrs. R. B. Waterman will act as secretary during 1926, and Mrs. Alf Trapp was unanimously re-elected treasurer.

Provision was made in the by-laws for the officers to serve as an emergency committee for the distribution of the club funds. The treasurer's report showed the organization in good financial condition. Mrs. R. B. Waterman received a rising vote of thanks for her untiring work during the past two years as president. Mrs. Harvey Bennett will entertain the members at her home next Wednesday, January 13.

C. B. French, of Mocala, and Mrs. D. Kraschel, of San Bernardino, cousins of M. B. Stevens, were overnight visitors at the Stevens home, Thursday.

Mr. and Mrs. Justin Spohn and C. A. Spohn motored to Santa Ana on business, Thursday morning. The Jolly Neighbors enjoyed a very delightful time Wednesday evening at B. A. Caloway's new home on Western avenue. The affair was a celebration in honor of the 56th wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Caloway and as a house warming, too.

Mr. and Mrs. Louis Robinson, of Trabuco, are receiving congratulations from their friends over the safe arrival of a son, January 6.

WOMAN'S CLUB P.-T. A. GROUPS PLAN MEETING

HUNTINGTON BEACH, Jan. 9.—A joint meeting of standing committees of the Parent-Teacher association and the Woman's club, with the aim in view of placing the matter of supervised playgrounds before the city board of trustees, was suggested yesterday by Mrs. D. R. White, president of the local P.-T. A., at a meeting of the organization. This year, the Woman's club and the P.-T. A. plan to launch an extensive campaign to secure a supervised playground.

It is expected that the joint committee meeting will be held in the near future and that the matter will be placed soon after before the city trustees for their consideration.

Mrs. D. H. Westmoreland, chairman of the philanthropic committee of the P.-T. A., reported that during the winter, her committee has supplied 38 children

OCCUPANT OF WRECKED MACHINE DISAPPEARS AS OFFICER ARRIVES

FULLERTON, Jan. 9.—A thrilling chase which led him through the streets shooting at a fast-moving motor car, a wreck and the escape of the pursued man, featured the duty of Motorcycle Officer Douglas Chambers last night.

According to a report on file at police headquarters here this morning, Officer Chambers sighted a machine traveling at a high rate of speed and swerving about on the street. He gave chase. The machine speeded up and the officer was unable to catch it. He drew his revolver and fired at the machine several times. Suddenly far out on South Spadra road, the car swerved from the road and crashed into a tree.

The occupant of the car leaped from the machine and fled. Several bottles in the car were found broken by the impact. According to police, an odor of illicit liquor permeated the atmosphere near the broken bottles. A close inspection of the machine revealed that several of the shots fired by the officer had taken effect.

The machine, a high powered car, contained a registration card which showed it belonged to C. F. Hulbey, of 581 West Sixteenth street, San Pedro. Local officers were today checking with the state motor vehicle department to see if the machine carried the correct license number plates. The chase occurred about 11 p. m.

HOUDINI'S SECRET

PEACE WORKER TO GIVE TALK IN FULLERTON

FULLERTON, Jan. 9.—Last evening was a gala occasion at the Placentia Orange Growers' association's Americanization colony on Balcom avenue, where Mexican persons living in the camp and many interesting Americans gathered for a party. Entertainment included a talk by Fred Schielerding, prominent local merchant, on his experiences as an immigrant to America from Germany. Antonio Lopez acted as his translator, as many of the Mexicans cannot understand English.

Mrs. Alexander Anderson sang a group of selections in Spanish, playing her own accompaniment. Miss Carmen Lemon, popular Spanish dancer, gave a group of numbers and two kiddies, Cued Rodriguez and Nora Aldreti, danced the Charleston, as did Miss Thelma Cannady and Miss Jean Dunlap.

Undoubtedly, the best liked feature of the evening was Mrs. Lottie Morse's fortune telling. In a gaily decorated booth, and wearing the typical gypsy costume, Mrs. Morse read the future for each man, woman and child.

An orchestra comprising a group of Fullerton high school musicians furnished music for the dancing, which concluded the evening.

This affair was the first of a series at which a small admission charge will be made, proceeds to go towards purchase of a radio for the recreation hall in the colony.

Every citrus grower in Orange county is invited to hear Dr. Webber.

2 Escape Injury As Car Overtakes

Japanese Gets Jail Term, Fine

FULLERTON, Jan. 9.—Neither Lucas Lora, the driver nor Joe Rioz, who was riding with him, were injured when a small coupe completely overturned, landing right side up on a six-foot fence near the Fullerton Oil company's lease, according to a report filed with the local office of the Automobile Club of Southern California. The accident occurred when the coupe was shoved over when attempting to pass a large truck.

The car, which was owned by Victor Hualde, was badly damaged. Both Lora and Rioz are employed on the Hualde ranch.

Anaheim Citrus Body Plans Meet

ANAHEIM, Jan. 9.—Arrangements for the regular annual meeting of the Anaheim Citrus Fruit association, to be held February 4, are already being made by W. H. Schureman, manager of the organization, it was revealed this morning.

The Elks' clubhouse has been reserved by Mr. Schureman as the meeting place and a general report of the affairs of the organization is being prepared for presentation at that time, he said.

INSTALL CIVIC BODY HEADS AT LAGUNA JAN. 12

LAGUNA BEACH, Jan. 9.—Officers of the Laguna Beach Chamber of Commerce will be installed in office at a banquet meeting to be held at the Tea and Tiffin, Tuesday evening, at 6:30 o'clock. The committee making the arrangements consists of H. H. Henshaw, A. B. Marshall and Thomas A. Cummings.

Voting for the first time under the ballot system, the members of the chamber of commerce elected 13 directors Wednesday after voting by ballots enclosed in a sealed envelope had been mailed or delivered in person to the Chamber of Commerce building for several days. The vote was canvassed by Clyde Mackey, F. D. Petters and Maurice Isch. H. H. Marshall presided in place of President Heisler.

H. H. Henshaw received a total of 133 out of the 142 votes cast. Out of the 18 candidates all but two received a majority of the votes cast.

The 13 men and women elected will meet this week and elect two directors at large, to serve for one year, and the 15 will then proceed to the election of officers.

Following are the new directors:

H. H. Henshaw, 138; Frank B. Champion, 126; George S. Johnston, 122; Frank W. Cuprien, 120; Joe Skidmore, 106; John L. Brice, 106; Roy W. Peacock, 105; Mrs. H. R. Macbeth, 103; Foster Elliot, 103; Harry G. Gardner, 101; Howard G. Heisler, 100; Norman H. Robotham, 98; Joseph S. Thurston, 87.

ATTRACTI0NS AT LOCAL THEATERS

Hobart Bosworth and Kenneth Harlan in a scene from "The Golden Strain," picture showing at the West Coast-Walker theater Sunday, Monday and Tuesday.

WEST END THEATER.

There is a vast difference in motion pictures as every fan knows. Where the "Coming of Amos" was a melodramatic comedy, "Hell's Highroad" a sophisticated drama of New York society, "The Wedding Song" an amusing crook comedy and "The Road to Yesterday" a strictly dramatic story covering a period of three centuries, "Three Faces East," which is now on view at the West End theater, steps off into the entirely different realm of the mystery story.

Jetta Goudal, Robert Ames, Clive Brook, Henry Walthall and Edythe Chapman head a list of players of unusual strength. They were particularly picked by Director Julian because of their personal fitness for the strong roles in this fast moving romance of the secret service in which a clever girl spy and a clever man are pitted against each other.

Clive Brook, whose appearances in recent Ince and Warner Brothers pictures have proven him a coming Marian Nixon who plays feminine lead in "Sporting Life," picture which will be shown at the Yost theater Sunday and Monday.

one. It is based on one of Peter B. Kyne's best stories and affords unusual opportunities for the kind of action that makes one forget it's only a motion picture. The cast is headed by dainty Madge Bellamy and Kenneth Harlan, with Hobart Bosworth, Ann Pennington and others of almost equal prominence in their support.

Robert Ames, clever New York stage actor who made his first screen appearance in "Without Mercy," plays the part of the English aviator. Henry Walthall plays the role of Chief of the British Service while Edythe Chapman (the mother in "The Ten Commandments") plays the part of his wife.

Rupert Julian not only directed "Three Faces East" but he has re-created his famous role of "Kaiser" in "The Beast of Berlin."

WEST COAST-WALKER

"The Golden Strain" which opens a three-day engagement tomorrow at the West Coast-Walker theater, is a romantic, pulsating drama of the West and an unusually good favorite, has the arduous part of Valdar the Butler. Miss Goudal plays jointly Miss Hawtree of England and Fraulein Marks of Germany, and the mystery as to which side she really belongs to is maintained to the end of the story.

Robert Ames, clever New York stage actor who made his first screen appearance in "Without Mercy," plays the part of the English aviator. Henry Walthall plays the role of Chief of the British Service while Edythe Chapman (the mother in "The Ten Commandments") plays the part of his wife.

Rupert Julian not only directed "Three Faces East" but he has re-created his famous role of "Kaiser" in "The Beast of Berlin."

The story has to do with a "yellow streak" in Milt Mulford (Kenneth Harlan) who has just been graduated from West Point with high military honors. His father, Major Milton Mulford (Hobart Bosworth) is proud of his fighting ancestry and heartily ashamed of his son's cowardly streak.

The picture is one of the most spectacular ever made. Much of the action takes place in Arizona and the famous Tenth Cavalry adds a striking touch of realism to the scenes where several hundred Apaches attack a government supply train, only to be repulsed by Uncle Sam's gallant troopers.

For stage entertainment a West Coast presentation is offered in an "All Star Idea" produced by Fanchon and Marco and featuring Gene Morgan, Helene Hughes, Fay Adler and Ted Bradford and Jue Wong. Advance reports on this act assure theatergoers of Santa Ana real entertainment. Gene Morgan is said to be even funnier than in his last appearance here when he was such a tremendous hit.

Completing the bill is a good comedy and other film novelties.

Clarence Burton, Olive Brook and Jetta Goudal in a scene from "Three Faces East," current attraction at the West End theater.

YOST THEATER

There is a world of real humor in "Where Was I?" the picture starring Reginald Denny, which closes at the Yost tonight.

There is also an unusual story with wonderful opportunities for the manufacturing of laughs. William Seiter, director, has turned out a finished product, according to those who have seen this diabolical Denny-drama.

Chester Conklin, Lee Moran, Otis Harlan, Pauline Garon, Marian Nixon, William Turner, Tom Lingham, Arthur Lake and James Corrigan all contribute to the general comedy of the piece.

No expense in elaborate sets was spared in the filming of this picture. An entire interior of a mansion was built, a subway was constructed and a whole wing of an office building was put up. Six automobiles were completely wrecked and a taxicab was incapacitated for all future use.

The story concerns the troubles of a young man trying to find out where he was on a certain date. Lee Moran and Chester Conklin, two of the screen's funniest comedians are the ones who help him on the search.

Miss Garon plays the part of the lady plotter and Miss Nixon has the role of Denny's sweetheart.

TEMPLE THEATER.

Tonight is your last chance to see the fastest farce comedy that the Connell Players have offered at the Temple theater to date, "Charley's Uncle."

Beginning tomorrow matinee and continuing through the entire week these popular players will present the year's greatest comedy-drama, "The Sap," a three-act show of the best type. This production has been received over the entire country as the year's best and Manager Bob Connell believes that in presenting this that the popularity of his company will be greatly increased.

A motion picture will be run before the spoken play of the feature type making up the best balanced bill the Temple has offered this season.

YOST THEATER

Large sections of England were realistically reproduced for "Sporting Life," the sensational stage play which comes to the Yost theater Sunday and Monday.

Street scenes in London slums; gay parties in London supper clubs; a vast country estate; the famous annual derby at Epsom Downs, and over all an authentic atmosphere of England, are to be seen in this sensational production.

"Sporting Life" is the title of the picture, and the director decided that it should be real sporting life that appeared on the screen. Consequently, thrilling horse race scenes, a boxing bout, with Ted "Kid" Lewis, a real champion, participating, backstage shots of a musical revue, and many other gay scenes have been included in the production, which outdoors, in pretentiousness, any release of the season.

Bert Lytell plays the leading featured role in the picture with Marian Nixon as the feminine lead. The supporting cast includes Cyril Chadwick, Paulette Duval, Charles Delaney, George Seigman, Ena Gregory, Kathleen Clifford and many others.

Movie Chatterbox

Foreign film stars, imported to Hollywood in quantity lots during 1925, have failed to achieve their predicted triumphs on the American screen.

Out of the grist of histrionic newcomers, all but one have failed notoriously in achieving the sudden stardom which their importers and press-agents had forecast. Scores of American girls, meanwhile, have risen from comparative obscurity to nationwide popularity the past year.

The exception is Vilma Bánky, beautiful Hungarian actress, brought to Hollywood by Samuel Goldwyn, pioneer film-maker.

This blonde continental beauty, unknown to the screen a year ago, is the film sensation of the year. She has won national recognition overnight, although she has appeared in but two American-made pictures.

Miss Bánky, in an interview today, attributed her sensational success in Hollywood to her realistic lovemaking before the cameras.

"I put my heart and soul in my acting," she said, speaking with a slight foreign accent. "They have given me emotional parts, with many kisses. I make them as realistic as I can."

The Hungarian star played the feminine leads opposite Rudolph Valentino and Ronald Colman in her first American films.

The names of both of these noted screen Don Juans have been linked with that of the foreign beauty. But she denies that she has been impressed by their mimetic lovemaking.

"Romance in Hollywood is very superficial," she observes. "As you

RADIO TO SAFEGUARD AVIATORS

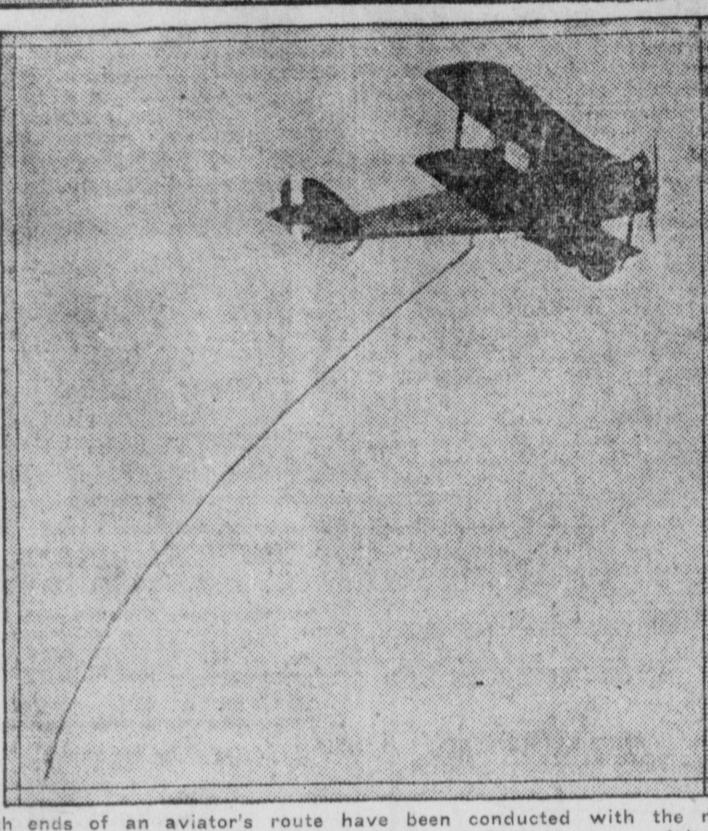

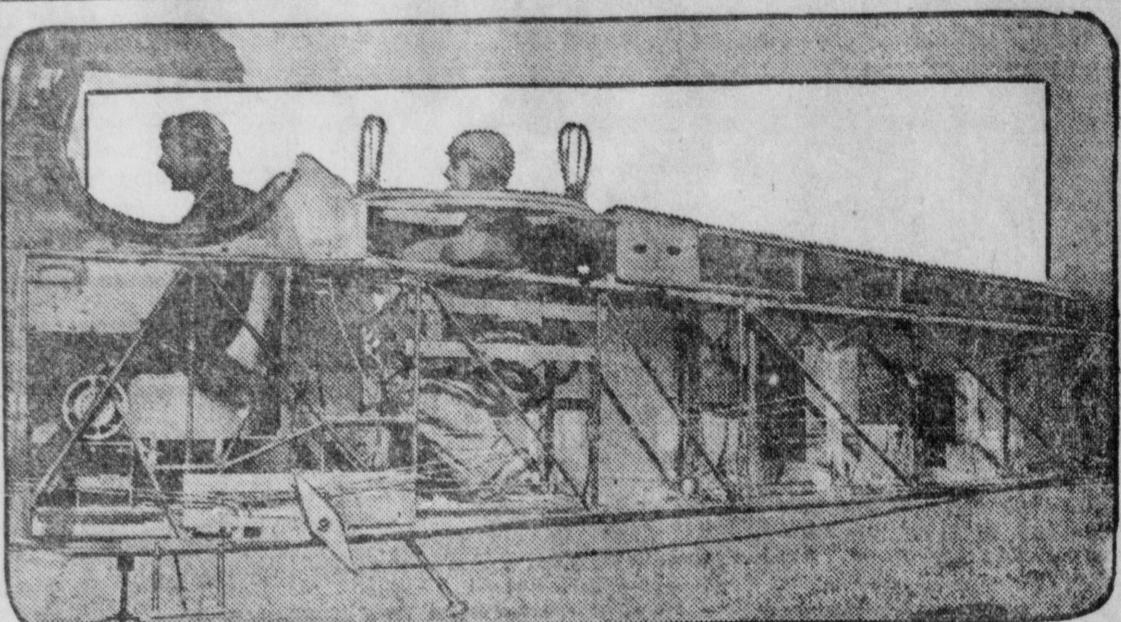

DAYTON, Ohio, Jan. 9.—The help of a powerful radio broadcasting station and land telephone lines has been enlisted at McCook Field here to carry on a two-way conversation over a long distance between a pilot and both his terminals.

This is the first time airplane and ground communication has been attempted on such ambitious a scale. That Captain W. S. Murphy, who conducted it from the air, predicts the probability of an attempt in the near future to talk all the way across the continent, between airplane and land stations.

Heretofore, pilots have been directed in their flights by signals from land stations not far below. Experiments on this phase of radio have been going on in this country since 1918.

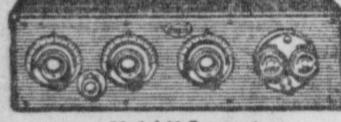

But now a two-way long distance conversation between an airplane and two or even more points on the ground, with only a weak powered transmitter on the plane, marks a decided step in the progress of military and commercial aviation, say officials here.

The experiment was undertaken

Two-way conversations with both ends of an aviator's route have been conducted with the radio set shown in the body of the airplane in upper picture. The pilot is Lieut. C. C. Shangrow, and behind him is Capt. W. S. Murphy, both of McCook Field, Dayton, Ohio. Lower left photo is of Captain Murphy, who is conducting these tests, and at right is photo of the test airplane in flight, with its trailing antenna.

SANITARIUM THIS YEAR

An interview in The Register this week was of unusual interest. It included a statement from Supervisor William Schumacher that the sanatorium to be constructed near Banning by Orange, Riverside and San Bernardino counties would be completed by the end of this year. This sanatorium is for the care of tubercular patients.

There is no question about the need and value of a sanatorium such as this is to be. It will be a life-saving agency. Through it, hundreds of men and women will be restored to strength and health.

Tuberculosis is a preventable as well as a curable disease. It can be prevented by keeping one's bodily strength up to such a standard that the body will resist the disease. It can be cured by building up bodily strength to such a degree that the body can repair the damage.

The sanatorium is to be a haven for those who are unable to secure proper treatment elsewhere. It will prove itself an educational center in matters pertaining to the prevention and cure of tuberculosis.

It is not to be an extravagant institution. It is to be run along simple lines. Fresh air, good food and rest—these three essentials are to be provided under expert management. The sanatorium will be very much worth while. The salvaging of human life and the restoration of the sick to health are projects that ought always to have our earnest support.

FOR REVIVING ROME

Most of Mussolini's innovations are political and economic. Here is something more appealing to the imagination. Mussolini is going to do what one ruler can to restore the grandeur of ancient Rome.

The important architectural relics of Rome's glory are to be given a setting worthy of them. Open squares are to be made around ancient amphitheaters, the famous Capitol and the no less famous Pantheon. "Everything that has been built around these monuments during the centuries of decadence must disappear." There are to be wide avenues cut through, so that the historic monuments will be visible from afar.

The "masterful temples of Christian Rome" likewise are to be "liberated from the profane parasitical constructions which now cling to them." The sacred Tiber itself is to be redeemed, clear to the Mediterranean. "Within five years Rome must appear as a marvel to all the people of the world—vast, ordered and powerful as it was in the time of the first Empire of Augustus." Mussolini orders it.

It is a big order, fitted to rouse Italian patriotism and captivate the world's attention. Let Mussolini do all he can in that direction, and the world will applaud, despite his theatrical bombast. What he undertakes now is what Napoleon did in Paris when he was master of France. Rome is more worthy of such renovation than Paris, because it is older and more venerable, with more majestic ruins.

It should pay, too, in hard cash as well as beauty and glory. It paid in Paris. Nobody there would think of using those fine Parisian squares and avenues and parks again for building space, or obscuring the great monuments.

It will pay in any city, big or little, in America as elsewhere, to follow a similar program suited to the place and time. Our cities may have few architectural relics, but they have the opportunity to clear away rubbish and cheapness and plan on a big, liberal scale for the future.

SOME QUERIES ABOUT LIQUOR

We might as well be logical in discussing this booze business. Prejudice gets us nowhere. Immoveable opinions get us nowhere. The first essential to intelligent discussion is, to know the facts.

What are the facts, as observed by prohibitionists or antis? Here is a set of questions, boiled down from a questionnaire submitted by Dr. Ernest H. Cherrington, general secretary of the World League Against Alcoholism. Never mind his possible bias. His questions demand an honest answer from every honest and interested person.

1. Do the streets of the average city show more evidence of the liquor traffic than before the adoption of prohibition, or less?

2. Granting that there is considerable bad liquor drunk, why is it that health conditions in this country are so good and the death rate is lower than ever before?

3. Do political meetings, conventions, fairs, carnivals, baseball games, holiday celebrations, etc., show more evidence of drinking, or less?

4. Is there more or less evidence of intoxication among automobile drivers in proportion to the number of automobiles than there used to be?

5. Is there a larger or smaller part played by liquor in riots and labor disputes?

6. Have homes and living conditions improved or not under prohibition? Is there more or less thrift, more or less poverty?

7. Is there more drinking among your acquaintances, or less?

8. Has prohibition been responsible for increased lawlessness, or has increased lawlessness made unforeseen trouble for prohibition?

THE PRESIDENTIAL HAND

President Coolidge shook hands with 3,130 guests at the White House New Year's reception, in observance of the good old American custom. It is probably worth the trouble, for the proud glow it gives the citizens who grasp the presidential hand, and the tradition of democracy that it continues. But it usually leaves the master of the White House with his arm in a sling.

Anyone who thinks that is not a fearsome ordeal should try shaking hands with some friend three or four thousand times in rapid succession. True, there is a technique which eases the strain somewhat. The public man soon learns that it is fatal to let the other fellow get the drop on him, so to speak. So he takes the aggressive, especially with husky males, and gets a firm clinch on the visitor's hand before the visitor can grip his. But while that procedure saves the host's hand from being squeezed to a pulp, it is hard on his contracting muscles.

Yet it must be endured. There is no satisfactory substitute. Rubbing noses in Chinese fashion might be even worse. Imagine the state of President Coolidge's nose after 3,130 rubbings.

A ruler in ancient times was chosen mainly for his strong right arm. We haven't changed much. Shaking hands is friendlier than wielding a battle-axe or sword, but no easier. The boy who aspires to be President should start developing his right arm and hand.

Delaware is buying Kansas rabbits, alive, to turn loose for hunters. Why not let the hunters move to a rabbit state?

Federal Aid Not Charity

—San Bernardino Sun

California has been apportioned $2,484,706 in federal aid money for highways and perhaps there will be a new outcry from the eastern states that such a large sum of money is to be expended by the government in the far west.

This money is not charity from the government, as the situation is viewed through California eyes, for the United States government owns a vast domain of not less than 20,000,000 acres of land, exclusive of worthless desert, in California. On this vast holding of property there can be no tax levy by the state or any county, school district, or road district. The other property of the state must pay the taxes for the upkeep of this federal land.

It has been figured that if this property was assessed at a value of $5 an acre—and there is much of it that is worth hundreds and even thousands of dollars an acre—the tax return to the counties in which there is federal land would be in excess of $2,500,000.

California, in urging the continuation of the federal road aid arrangement, is accepting nothing but that to which it is fairly entitled, in fact more entitled to than eastern states which also receive federal aid, for there is no government land in eastern states.

If the government would cede to the western states the federal lands there would be no complaint if the highway aid was then withdrawn from all states.

In San Bernardino county there is one mile after mile of open government land on each side of the transcontinental highways. There is no way to raise adequate funds for highway work in these sections of San Bernardino county, and to relieve the situation California has taken over the building and maintenance of all the transcontinental highways in San Bernardino county, but the only way that the state can properly, or rather even meagerly finance operations on these roads, is from the federal aid funds.

The manner in which the California Highway commission protested the original suggestion that federal aid be abandoned is known to have aided in the change of sentiment in Washington.

Fighting the Rat Foe

—Pasadena Star-News

California lumber companies are planning to reforest part of their cut-over timber land. They plan to set out 3,000,000 seedling pine trees. This is a good move. It should be encouraged. There is need of encouragement, in a practical way, the rodent known as "pack rat" is a destructive enemy of new forest trees. This pest is thwarting the lumber companies in their reforesting plans. Hence they have appealed to the state department of agriculture to help them. The lumber companies have been trying to poison this rodent with strichine. But the poison is not effective. The rats continue to multiply and their ravages are discouraging to re-foresters. Representatives of the United States Biological survey are co-operating in efforts to find a way to eradicate this pest.

The rat is an all-around nuisance. It causes losses to California alone running into the millions annually. Besides, it is unsanitary and a menace to health. The hand of every man, woman and child in the state should be against this pestiferous little creature. The fight against it should continue until it shall be exterminated. Practical extermination, however, would call for constant vigilance. For rats have various and sundry ways of getting into the state. One way is, by coming to land from steamships docking in California harbors. As rodents multiply rapidly, the rat family soon would become prodigious, even from a small beginning.

It should pay, too, in hard cash as well as beauty and glory. It paid in Paris. Nobody there would think of using those fine Parisian squares and avenues and parks again for building space, or obscuring the great monuments.

It will pay in any city, big or little, in America as elsewhere, to follow a similar program suited to the place and time. Our cities may have few architectural relics, but they have the opportunity to clear away rubbish and cheapness and plan on a big, liberal scale for the future.

Health Topics

By DR. HUGH CUMMING
Surgeon General, United States Health Service

RICKETS MAY BE INDIRECT DEATH CAUSE
Rickets is a constitutional disease of childhood, characterized principally by a softened condition of the bones and by other evidences of defective nutrition. The name "rickets" is from the old English word meaning to twist, and refers to the deformities which naturally follow the softening of the bone.

Prevention is more important than cure, because even after recovery from the disease the child is often afflicted with deformities which should never have been allowed to develop.

In order to prevent a disease you must know its cause, and the cause of rickets is a combination of defective diet and unhygienic surroundings. Give the baby the right food, with plenty of sunshine, fresh air, and cleanliness and you need not fear rickets.

Rickets occurs far more frequently among bottle-fed children. There is no better food for a baby than the milk of a healthy mother, and none more capable of preventing rickets, provided it is not prolonged beyond the first year. The bones must have lime if they are to become hard and firm.

If the mother is in poor health or there is some insurmountable reason why the baby cannot be breast fed, fresh cow's milk should be the principle article of diet for the first year, accompanied by vitamins containing substances like orange juice. And always there should be an abundance of sunshine.

If the baby has not had the proper diet and sunny surroundings, the mother should be on the alert to detect the first sign of rickets. Unfortunately, the disease is seldom recognized until deformity appears, which is usually from the sixth month to the middle of the second year. There are earlier symptoms, however, which may be recognized. The child may have digestive trouble and a poor appetite, or convulsions. There is profuse sweating of the head and upper parts of the body, particularly during sleep, and tenderness of the bones shown by the cry of pain elicited by handling the child.

The bone deformities include knock knees and bow legs, and enlargements at the wrist and at the ends of the ribs. The head may be large, and serious deformity of the chest may occur. The child is late in learning to walk, and late in cutting teeth. He should not be allowed to stand on his feet except for very short periods as the soft bones will tend to bend under his weight. The teeth which are late appearing are apt to decay early.

Rickets indirectly is the cause of many deaths. It not only increases the tendency to, and the severity of, such lung diseases as bronchitis and pneumonia, complicating measles and whooping cough, but it also makes recovery from such complications less likely.

The treatment of rickets is more hygienic and dietary than medicinal, and this applies to both mother and child. The nutrition and personal health of the mother should be carefully guarded because she is the source of the baby's food supply. Given a proper food supply, with sunshine and cod liver oil, rickets in a baby is not a difficult disease to cure.

Everyone who thinks that is not a fearsome ordeal should try shaking hands with some friend three or four thousand times in rapid succession. True, there is a technique which eases the strain somewhat. The public man soon learns that it is fatal to let the other fellow get the drop on him, so to speak. So he takes the aggressive, especially with husky males, and gets a firm clinch on the visitor's hand before the visitor can grip his. But while that procedure saves the host's hand from being squeezed to a pulp, it is hard on his contracting muscles.

Yet it must be endured. There is no satisfactory substitute. Rubbing noses in Chinese fashion

Etiquette May Change But Not Manners

—San Francisco Chronicle.

Since Catherine the Great devised her ten commandments for social conduct at the Russian imperial court, some 140 years have passed, yet they might stand as an adequate formula for good manners in modern society. The rules, brought to light by soviet workmen dismantling rooms in the famous Winter Palace, are:

1. Leave your rank outside as well as your hat, and especially your sword.

2. Leave your right to precedence, your pride and similar feeling outside the door.

3. Be gay, but do not spoil anything; do not break nor gnaw anything.

4. Sit, stand, talk as you will without reference to anybody.

5. Talk moderately and not very loudly, so as not to make the ears and heads of others ache.

6. Argue without anger and without excitement.

7. Neither sigh nor yawn, nor make anybody dull or heavy.

8. In all innocent games, whatever one proposes, let all join.

9. Eat whatever is sweet and savory but drink with moderation, so that each may find his legs upon leaving the room.

10. Tell no tales out of school; whatever goes in at one ear must go out at the other before leaving the room.

Perhaps it is not very surprising that these regulations should fit our own times as well as Catherine's. Etiquette changes with passing time, but good manners remain much the same, and if there is a lamentable vision of some of Catherine's rules today, there probably was the same even when her iron hand was in readiness to smite the offender.

Worth While Verse

TRUST IN FAITH

O world, thou choosest not the better part!

It is not wisdom to be only wise,

And on the inward vision close the eyes,

But it is wisdom to believe the heart.

Columbus found a world, and had no chart,

Save one that faith deciphered in the skies;

To trust the soul's invincible surmise

Was all his science and his only art.

Our knowledge is a torch of smoky fire

That lights the pathway but one step ahead.

Across a void of mystery and dread.

Bid, then, the tender light of faith to shine,

By which alone the mortal heart is led

Unto the thinking of the thought divine.

—George Santayana.
